Shelby Man Near Death In Spectacular Crash

This is the wrecked light truck which Francis Leemaster, 29, Shelby, was driving when he collided with a heavier truck loaded with baled wire. Leemaster, critically injured, is in General hospital.

Driver Hurt In Truck Crash Fights for Life

Shelby Man Given Blood Transfusion In Hospital Here, Near Death as Result of Route 39 Collision.

A 29-year-old Shelby man fought for his life in General hospital today following a spectacular truck accident on Route 39 near Springmill, five miles northwest of Mansfield, at 6:30 last evening. He is Francis Leemaster, driver for the John West dry cleaning company here.

Leemaster's condition was reported as critical at noon today by hospital attendants, and his physician said his chances of recovery were slight.

His light truck collided with a heavily-loaded truck carrying baled wire and driven by Russell McNeely, 30, 221 Raymond avenue, state highway patrolmen reported.

Leemaster, who lost considerable blood as the result of his injuries, was given a blood transfusion last night.

Windpipe Cut.

He suffered a deep laceration of the neck, involving the larynx and the upper windpipe, a laceration of the right eyeball, a fractured nose, lower jaw and a fracture of the left collarbone.

The accident occurred when Leemaster, en route to Shelby, struck McNeely's truck traveling in the opposite direction, on a curve, patrolmen said.

The body of McNeely's truck was knocked from the chassis by the impact. Officers said Leemaster, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, dropped off the highway and hit

MINERS KILLED

Bodies of Two Removed From 'Bootleg' Shaft.

SHENANDOAH, Pa. — (AP) — Bootleg coal mining—an occupation so dangerous that it's being called "the suicide industry" in the anthracite region—added two more victims today to its long roster of death underground.

The crushed bodies of Joseph Kuntis, 23, and George Kraulis, 48, were removed last night from a makeshift mine in which they had been entombed more than ten hours.

A sloping gangway of a coal hole they had been working on an isolated mountainside since they lost their regular jobs two years ago collapsed while they were 200 feet below the surface. Hospital physicians said they probably died instantly under the tons of earth, coal and rock that came tumbling down.

GET 'SURPRISE' RELIEF FUNDS

City, County Receive $14,402 Allocation Unexpectedly From State.

Mansfield and Richland county officials learned today that they will receive $14,402 in state relief funds from an unexpected source, but they were not sure what they are going to do with the money.

The funds represent excise taxes in excess of what has been pledged for poor relief bonds that have been issued by the city and county. The money was released under a ruling of Attorney General T. J. Herbert.

Neither County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe nor City Auditor Paul L. Kelley knew whether the money can be used for current relief bills or must be held in reserve for payments on relief bonds.

Wolfe predicted that the funds probably will be available for current bills and should help the city and county through the winter months when relief costs mount.

The county, responsible under the new law for relief costs in all of the 18 townships, has no relief bonds. Madison township, however, has outstanding bonds amounting to $17,000.

Ashland county will receive $9,125; Crawford county, $9,953; and Huron county, $8,256.

Two Dead Rabbits In Coat Save Life Of Ohio Hunter

WASHINGTON, C. H. —(INS)— Two dead rabbits today were credited with saving the life of Harold Thompson, 27-year-old Fayette county farmer.

Thompson bagged the rabbits while hunting with 17-year-old Earl Knisley. He placed them in the game pocket of his hunting coat and the pair continued to hunt.

A few minutes later, Knisley fired at a running rabbit. The shot struck the rabbits in Thompson's coat, tearing them to pieces. Only a small portion of the charge penetrated the coat, causing Thompson a painful but not serious hip wound.

F. D. R. WAITS ON U. S. REACTION

Tax or Borrow For Defense, He Asks; Gives New Hint On Third Term.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. — President Roosevelt sat in his Pine Mountain cottage today and waited reaction to two statements he uttered at Warm Springs.

In serious vein, the president had called on the country to decide whether it wanted to pay additional taxes to meet extraordinary national defense needs, or whether it preferred to borrow the money and shift the ultimate burden on future generations.

Remarks Deliberate.

Possibly in a less serious vein, Mr. Roosevelt had made another cryptic remark which was capable of interpretation as a hint he would not be a third term candidate. In recent days he has warned reporters he makes such remarks deliberately to watch political forecasters bite on them. In his press conferences, he waves aside direct questions on the subject of 1940.

The problem of pay-as-you-go with taxes for about $2,250,000,000 of national defense next fiscal year frankly was presented by the president to get the nation's reaction.

He pointed out the alternative or more borrowing. He was talking about a matter of principle,

RUNS AGROUND

U. S. Destroyer, 70 Aboard, In Mishap Off Virginia Coast.

NORFOLK, Va.—(UP)—The U. S. Destroyer Yarnall, with about 70 men aboard, was aground off the Virginia coast three miles inside the entrance of Chesapeake bay today and the coast guard cutter Calypso was standing by to give assistance.

Coast guard and naval authorities said the destroyer was in no danger. Its position was reported as three miles west of the Cape Henry light, in Lynhaven roads, about 12 miles east of the entrance to Hampton roads.

The Yarnall is one of the over-age destroyers recently recommissioned by the navy for active service. Naval officers said she was returning to the naval base here from a run when she ran aground.

No details of the accident were available.

Worried British Count 27 Ships As Week's Loss

'Minenkrieg' Also Claims 238 Lives In Seven Days; Scores Missing; Port of London Partially Closed as Navy Hunts Mines Dropped From Air.

(By United Press)

LONDON—The admiralty called for volunteers today to help combat the German mine warfare and disclosed that conditions had become so bad that the port of London was partially closed Thursday while mines, dropped by German airplanes, were cleared out of the Thames estuary.

Meanwhile there was a report, neither confirmed nor denied officially, that a German submarine had been captured in a bold attempt to enter the lower reaches of the Firth of Clyde, southwest Scotland, and that it was believed to have been the same submarine and crew that sank the British battleship Royal Oak at Scapa Flow with a loss of 810 lives six weeks ago.

The port of London was completely reopened yesterday, it was announced belatedly. One channel never was closed and all were reopened when an inbound convoy arrived. A little later the American Merchant, the last American ship still in British waters, left the port.

The admiralty urged men between the ages of 18 and 45, with fishing trawler experience, to volunteer to cope with the plague of mines, some of which had been dropped by German airplanes within view of the shore.

The marine situation had become acute with the sinking of 27 ships reported in the past week at a cost of at least 238 lives. In addition, scores were missing from these ships and many injured.

For use by the volunteers, many trawlers had been mobilized, mostly on the Yorkshire coast where 200 German mines were washed ashore in a few hours yesterday.

Form Special Patrols.

Eire, too, had joined in the mine fight. It was announced at Dublin that special coastal defense patrols, composed of torpedo boats and trawlers, already had been formed.

Germany's "Minenkrieg" (mine war) had been blamed for most of the 27 ship sinkings, nearly all of which occurred close to the British shore, but it had been accompanied by renewed German submarine and airplane activity and survivors of the Dutch steamer Sliedrecht reported on being landed at a British port yesterday that they had been torpedoed after the commander of a German U-boat examined the ship's papers and ascertained that it was a neutral ship headed for a neutral port.

The Sliedrecht was bound from Holland to Norway with a cargo of oil. The sinking was the best evidence to date that the Germans had begun, at least on a small scale, unrestricted submarine warfare.

In spite of the sharply mounting sea losses, however, British authorities pointed out that the past week's casualties still were only one-third of those during the worst week of unrestricted sea warfare during the World war.

The most fearful possibilities of

BACKFIRE: Nazis Claim Sub Sinks Ship Used To Trap U-Boats

(By United Press)

BERLIN—The high command announced today that a German U-boat had destroyed a British submarine trap disguised as a Dutch steamer, and also a 1,000-ton naval auxiliary ship.

The sinkings occurred in the U-boat's "operations area," the communique said.

It was the first mention in this war of British "Q-boats," devised in the World war to meet the German U-boat campaign. These "Q-boats," disguised as impotent steamers, cruised the merchant ship lanes in the World war and on the approach of submarines, swung out hidden guns.

The guns sometimes were behind partitions in the ships sides, and the partitions could be thrown open on an instant's notice. Others had guns hidden on decks, or in lifeboats, from which the sides swung down. They became an effective weapon in the anti-submarine warfare.

LONDON — (INS) — Britain's admiralty today asserted it was without information on Germany's claim that a British ship, disguised as a Dutch vessel and lying in wait for submarines, was sunk by a U-boat. No further comment was offered.

NEUTRALS: British Weighing Protests On Seizure Of Exports

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Snowed under by protests from neutral nations, the British government today promised to do all in its power to mitigate hardships resulting from its announced intention to seize German exports.

The protests, received thus far from Sweden, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Japan, are receiving "most careful consideration," it was announced.

"The last thing His Majesty's government wishes to do," a spokesman said, "is to aggravate the hardships brought upon neutral nations by the deplorable actions of Germany."

Britain announced plans to seize German exports in reprisal for allegedly indiscriminate mine-laying by the reich in violation of international law.

Capture of the famous German pocket battleship Deutschland somewhere in the North Atlantic was reported today in unconfirmed rumors, but Britain's jubilation over the story of her first great ocean triumph was chilled when the admiralty would not even comment.

The 10,000-ton Deutschland was reported ranging the Atlantic from the Azores to Newfoundland after she captured the American freighter City of Flint and put a prize crew aboard, only to lose the American ship in Norway.

With both London and Berlin remaining silent on the Deutschland rumor, British authorities reluctantly confirmed that the 10,000-ton cruiser Belfast was damaged by a blast, "either by a torpedo or a mine," at the entrance to the Firth of Forth in Scotland Tuesday.

The cruiser, it was added, reached a Scottish port under her own power.

Mansfielders Off To Ohio State-Michigan Game

Here's part of the 88 Mansfield football fans who traveled via special train this morning to the Ohio State-Michigan football game at Ann Arbor.

JOIN INVADING GRID CARAVAN

Mansfield Fans Board 13-Car 'Scarlet Scourge' to See Ohio-Michigan Classic.

Equipped with coffee-filled thermos jugs, heavy overcoats and blankets, Mansfield football fans—88 strong—were prepared for "red flannel" weather at they boarded their chartered car bound for today's Ohio State-Michigan game in Ann Arbor this morning at the Erie station.

It was a jolly crowd with Ohio State rooters dominating, that settled down in the car, which left at 8:05 a. m., on the 13-car football special, "Scarlet Scourge," put on the tracks at Akron.

This train followed by 10 minutes another special from Youngstown.

The Mansfield-Akron train was due in Ann Arbor at 12:55 p. m., and was due to depart for home shortly after the game.

There was a nip in the late November air as the Bucks and Wolverines waited for the opening whistle before a crowd expected to number 85,000.

Ohio State needed no better than a tie to gain undisputed possession to the 1939 title. If Iowa, now resting in second place in the conference, should lose to Northwestern today, the Rumania Bars Barley Exports But Gives Germany Oil.

BUCHAREST— (AP) —Rumania's new government acting to conserve the country's resources for possible war use prohibited today exportation of barley and vegetable products but granted a permit for exportation of $500,000 worth of petroleum and an equal amount of other products to Slovakia, German protectorate, to pay for munitions.

As the new cabinet, headed by Premier George Tatarescu, was sworn in, King Carol said Rumania's policy would remain the same—to preserve neutrality.

A wide range of political opinion in the cabinet caused observers to express doubt concerning further German trade demands. Resignation of the formed cabinet Thursday coincided with rejection of German demands for more Rumanian supplies at better prices.

Hollywood Waits for Strike Blow To Fall

Union Leader Says He'll Call General Walkout as Producers Refuse to Grant 10 Per Cent Increase.

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD—The motion picture industry braced itself today for the shock of a strike call which A. F. of L. union leaders said would close every film theater in the United States and Canada.

Failing to win a 10 per cent wage increase for 23,000 studio technicians, William Bioff, chairman of the conference of studio unions, announced that he would call today a "general strike throughout the entire motion picture industry."

The hour of the walkout was not announced.

Bioff's declaration followed a conference of A. F. of L. executives and movie producers, in which Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the producers, in which M. Schenck, chairman of producers' negotiating committee, informed the union their demands were being refused because of a "complete readjustment which faces the industry."

Loss of foreign markets and sharp curtailment of production had been cited by the producers as effects of the European war on the industry. The unions pointed to "exorbitant salaries" paid to stars and "ridiculously low" wages to hundreds of technicians and challenged producers to make revisions.

"We feel that the underpaid workers should get their wage increases right now." Bioff told newsmen after the conference broke up.

JUDGE WEIGHS KUHN DECISION

Dismisses 5 Counts Against Bund Leader, Thinks Over Gift to 'Golden Angel.'

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Judge James G. Wallace deliberated today on whether to dismiss a charge that the $717.02 which Fritz Kuhn spent to move his "golden angel's" furniture across the country was embezzled from his German-American bund.

He had dismissed five of the 10 grand larceny and forgery counts on which the fuehrer is being tried, announcing that he would "sleep on" the two counts involving the furniture moving bill of Mrs. Florence Camp, blond California divorcee, who testified she had repaid $600.

The three counts which Judge Wallace refused to dismiss, and which will go to the jury Monday or Tuesday, are based on $500 in bund funds which Kuhn asserted were paid to Attorney James D. C. Murray, who denied that he ever received the money.

Charges that Kuhn stole an additional $4,424 from the Bund treasury were stricken from the indictment on the ground that the state had "failed of proof." This figure had fluctuated several times during the trial.

Stan Laurel Gets Divorce at Last, Wife In Jam Now

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Comedian Stan Laurel was allowed to keep his latest divorce decree today and the court recommended that Illeana, his blonde third wife, be prosecuted for perjury.

Illeana, buxom blond Russian singer, claimed Laurel obtained the divorce by terrorizing her so badly that she was afraid to resist. She testified he once chased her along a Beverly Hills street in a thin negligee and on another occasion tried to bury her alive.

Superior Judge Joseph W. Dickers denied her plea and recommended that the entire Laurel case be investigated.

"This court," he said, "believes the witness has committed perjury and recommends that the district attorney investigate the matter and that prosecution be carried out."

LOOKS TO WPA

Cleveland Hopes to Transfer 6,000 From Relief Lists.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Relief-harassed Cleveland looked to the WPA today for a way out of its latest crisis.

The city asked the federal agency to add to its rolls about 6,000 employables dropped off the relief lists in the current fund shortage.

Under the plan the WPA would open 25 street and sanitary sewer projects, in addition to adding part-time workers on many of the present jobs.

Mayor Harold H. Burton, emphasizing that the $300,000 in state funds just obtained must last to Jan. 1, ordered all single employable adults and all those depending on employable adults for support slashed off the list. He said this would lighten the burden by about 11,000.

TRADERS STUDY SALES REPORTS AS LIST LIMPS

Reserve Board Estimates Top Comparable 1938 Period By 2 Per Cent.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks continued to limp in today's market proceedings.

Financial circles noted federal reserve figures for the week ended Nov. 18, disclosing a further slackening in the year-to-year increase in the country's department store sales.

In the latest week the reserve board estimated sales topped the comparable 1938 period by 2 per cent. In the preceding week the gain amounted to 7 per cent and in the week before that a 13 per cent rise was recorded.

Studied also was the summary of the commerce department placing sales of 2,912 wholesalers for October at 11½ per cent over the same month last year. In addition, inventories were 6 per cent larger, making the third consecutive month in which they had exceeded the 1938 aggregate.

A constructive interpretation was given the statement of the department of agriculture showing cash income received by farmers in the first ten months of 1939 amounted to $6,335,000,000 against $6,193,000,000 in the corresponding months a year ago.

TEACHERS FACE PAYLESS YULE

Cleveland Schools To Stay Open But 4,000 To Wait Salaries.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Cleveland's 4,000 school teachers faced a payless Christmas today, but the board of education decided to keep the schools open.

The board had considered closing for the rest of the year because of a depleted operating fund. Treasurer Karl K. Morris said the board could stop classes for the last six weeks of the year or operate at a deficit of $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 for the period.

Toledo schools have closed for the rest of the year due to lack of funds.

HE'S FED UP

Man Asks Divorce, Says Wife Hit Him With Sledge Hammer.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—(U.P.)—In a divorce petition on file in common pleas court today George Albright, Steubenville, charged his wife, Sue, with extreme cruelty, complaining that when he declined to take her driving she hit him with a 12-pound sledge hammer.

His petition also said she threw eggs, dishes and chairs at him on occasions and that she once destroyed the family Christmas tree.

LAST LAUGHS

Bequest Gives Cars To Chauffeur To "Finish Wrecking."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Judge Sam Bates said these bequests were made in wills probated in his court:

"To my chauffeur: I leave my cars as he has almost ruined them, and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job."

"I want six of my creditors for pall bearers—they have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job."

BUS DRIVERS MEET

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Nearly 500 school bus drivers today were attending the sixth annual convention of the Ohio State Association of School Bus drivers in Columbus. E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, headed the list of speakers.

HURT WHILE HUNTING

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Sixteen-year-old Leonard Curtis, Columbus, was confined to a hospital today in a serious condition from gunshot wounds suffered when a hunting companion accidentally discharged his gun as they were walking through a field.

VOLUNTEERS TO HUNT FOR MINES

Worried British Count 27 Ships as Week's Losses In 'Minenkrieg.'

the present situation, however, were the laying of "parachute" and "magnetic" mines off the British coast. German fliers were reported to be taking advantage of the early moonlight hours to sow the mine fields.

Britain's answer to this mine warfare—the blockade on German exports now due to go into effect next Tuesday with the promulgation of an order in council—was drawing attacks from many neutral countries. Italy protested last night, following protests by Holland and Belgium, and it was understood that Japan would protest Tuesday when the blockade became official.

Admits Cruiser Damaged.

The admiralty admitted last night that the 10,000-ton crusier Belfast had been damaged by a torpedo or mine in the vicinity of May Island in the Firth of Forth on Nov. 21, and that 20 of the crew had been injured.

In addition to the Belfast and Sliedricht, the British steamer Mangaloré, 8,886 tons, was added to the casualty list yesterday. It struck a mine off the east coast and sank. The crew of 77 was saved.

WOMAN KNEW HOW TO SAVE

Pleaded Poverty; Found To Have Hoard of $287,300.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Mrs. Janet Lincoln lived frugally before her death last week.

The 56-year-old widow paid relatives $5 a week for room and board, pleading inability to pay more.

Yesterday she was revealed as the owner of a $287,300 hoard.

A safety deposit box gave up $297,00 in bills of $1,000 and $500 donominations. There was $5,000 in a bank checking account, and $3,300 in a savings account.

HEDY ENDS FEUD

Film Star Going Back To Work After Contract Dispute.

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Hedy Lamarr, the Viennese film beauty, and the Metro-Goldwyn studios have called off their salary and contract feud.

Hedy will report back to the studios today, thus ending her several-week long battle with the studios over contractual differences. Miss Lamarr balked some time ago because she wasn't allowed to work for other studios while not working at MGM.

FILMLAND WAITS STRIKE ORDER

Union Leader Says He'll Call Walkout as Producers Refuse Wage Boost.

Test of the effectiveness of the strike is expected to come when and if the unions call upon movie projectionists to walk out. There are 20,000 film theaters in the United States which would be forced to shut down if the projectionists, members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, went on strike.

Approximately 12,000 technicians under the IATSE recently received pay boosts of 10 per cent.

Bioff, in announcing the strike call, did not mention the projectionists specifically, but before a previous conference with producers he said the technicians could force a wage increase by calling the projectionists to their assistance.

Bioff surrendered in Los Angeles yesterday on a fugitive warrant from Chicago charging he had failed to serve a sentence given him on a pandering conviction 17 years ago.

He obtained freedom on a $1,000 bond a short time later.

IT'S NO USE - I JUST CAN'T UNDERSTAND -!! IT SEEMS UNBELIEVABLE - MY HUSBAND THROWING AWAY A FORTUNE IN DIAMONDS!!
MY DEAR SISTER - YOUR HUSBAND FIRMLY BELIEVES THE HANGMAN'S BURRO IS AN EVIL SPIRIT - LAST NIGHT WHEN THE BURRO SUDDENLY APPEARED IN A CLOUD OF WHITE FOAM -
YOUR HUSBAND - A VICTIM OF INSANE SUPERSTITION - THOUGHT HE SAW THE GHOST OF THE BURRO - BLIND WITH FEAR - HE DROPPED THE DIAMONDS AND FLED INTO THE DESERT
HONEST, BEAUTY - THAT SHAMPOO I GAVE YOU MADE YOU LOOK GRAND - BUT WHEN MR. BLACK SAW YOU IN THE MOONLIGHT - ALL WHITE AN' FOAMY - I GUESS HE THOUGHT YOU WERE A GHOST OF YOURSELF
11-30
LOOK, CHIEF! HERE COMES STRING BEAN! THE WAY HE'S FEEDING SPURS TO HIS BRONC YOU KIN TELL HE'S GOT BIG NEWS!!
YES, I FOUND SNAKE EYES IN THE MORGUE - SOMEONE BUSHWHACKED HIM - STOLE THE BAG OF DIAMONDS HE WAS CARRYING - STORM BLACK - THE POLECAT!!
EASY, CHIEF - A POSSE WAS CHASIN' SNAKE EYES - HE WAS STILL WARM WHEN THEY FOUND HIM - AND A BREED WAS HIGH-TAILING IT OVER THE RIDGE -
DARRELL McCLURE
11-21
GEE, ZERO - I KINDA WISHT I NEVER TRIED TO WASH THE BURRO AT ALL - 'CAUSE NOW WE GOTTA BAG OF STOLEN DIAMONDS AN' WE DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH 'EM!!
THE DIAMONDS MUST HAVE BEEN STOLEN - MY HUSBAND WAS SNEAKING IN TO HIDE THEM WHEN HE SAW WHAT HE THOUGHT WAS THE GHOST OF THE HANGMAN'S BURRO -!
I GUESS ANYBODY WOULD BE SCARED! I WAS GIVING BEAUTY A SHAMPOO - HE WAS ALL COVERED WITH WHITE FOAMY SOAPSUDS - I GOT SOME SOAPSUDS IN HIS EYE -
I GUESS IT STUNG HIS EYE AWFUL 'CAUSE IT MADE HIM TERRIBLE MAD - HE RAN OUT IN THE DESERT - THEN MR. BLACK SAW HIM AN' WAS SO SCARED HE DROPPED THE BAG OF DIAMONDS AN' RAN AWAY
DARRELL McCLURE
11-22
IF WE TELL THE SHERIFF - IT MEANS DREADFUL TROUBLE FOR YOUR HUSBAND - IF WE DON'T TELL AND THE STOLEN DIAMONDS ARE FOUND IN OUR POSSESSION - IT MEANS TROUBLE FOR ALL OF US!!
THE GANG'S GETTIN' RESTLESS - THEY BLAME ME FOR SENDING STORM BLACK OUT ALONE TO GET THE DIAMONDS THAT SNAKE EYES WAS BRINGIN' ACROSS THE BORDER -
NOW SNAKE EYES IS DEAD - THE DIAMONDS AND BLACK ARE GONE!! IT'S YOUR JOB TO FIND OUT WHAT HAPPENED TO 'EM
OKAY, CHIEF - I'LL SORTA MOSEY 'ROUND THE HAY-STACKS AN' TRY TO LOCATE THE MISSING NEEDLES
11-23
GEE, MRS. SPRUCE - THAT'S A SWELL IDEA - I GUESS NOBODY WOULD LOOK IN A SUGAR-BOWL UNLESS THEY WANTED TO GET SUGAR
DARRELL McCLURE
I KINDA GOT THE WIM-WAMS 'CAUSE IF I WASN'T WASHIN' THE BURRO - THEN IT COULDN'T HAVE RUN OUT ALL COVERED WITH SOAPSUDS AN' SCARED FOLKS TO DEATH
NO, HONEY - IT WASN'T YOUR FAULT THAT MY SISTER'S HUSBAND'S SUPERSTITION LED HIM TO BELIEVE A FOAM-COVERED BURRO WAS A GHOST AND AN EVIL SPIRIT -
'COURSE, I KNOW BEAUTY WASN'T A GHOST 'CAUSE GHOSTS DON'T KICK FOLKS LIKE BURROS DOES - BUT HONEST, THE BURRO DID LOOK AWFUL SCARY -
DARRELL McCLURE
HE GOT SOAPSUDS IN HIS EYES AN' HE WAS TERRIBLE MAD AN' BRAYIN' SO LOUD - I'LL BERCHA IF A TIGER OR A LION HAD SEEN HIM - THEY'D HOLLER HELP! HELP! - AN' RUN AWAY AS FAST AS THEY COULD
11-24
YEAH - RED HARDIN AND THE GANG ARE PRETTY RILED UP 'GAINST YOU - THEY FIGGER YOU BUSHWHACKED SNAKE-EYES - TOOK THE FORTUNE IN DIAMONDS HE WAS PACKIN' AND -
BUT I'M TELLIN' YA - WHEN I REACHED THE MEETING-PLACE, I SEE SNAKE-EYES DEAD ON THE TRAIL RIDDLED WITH BULLETS - BEFORE I HAVE A CHANCE TO SEARCH HIM FOR THE DIAMONDS -
SHERIFF GREYSON'S POSSE COME A-RIDIN' UP WITH GUNS A-POPPIN' - THERE WAS NOTHIN' TO DO 'CEPT MAKE A GETAWAY WITH THE LAW-DOGS ALL SLINGIN' LEAD AT ME -
NOW, SISTER - I AM SURE WE HAVE NO CAUSE TO WORRY - IT'S TWO WEEKS SINCE YOUR HUSBAND WENT AWAY AND LEFT THE DIAMONDS HERE - NO ONE SUSPECTS WE HAVE THE DIAMONDS - AND -

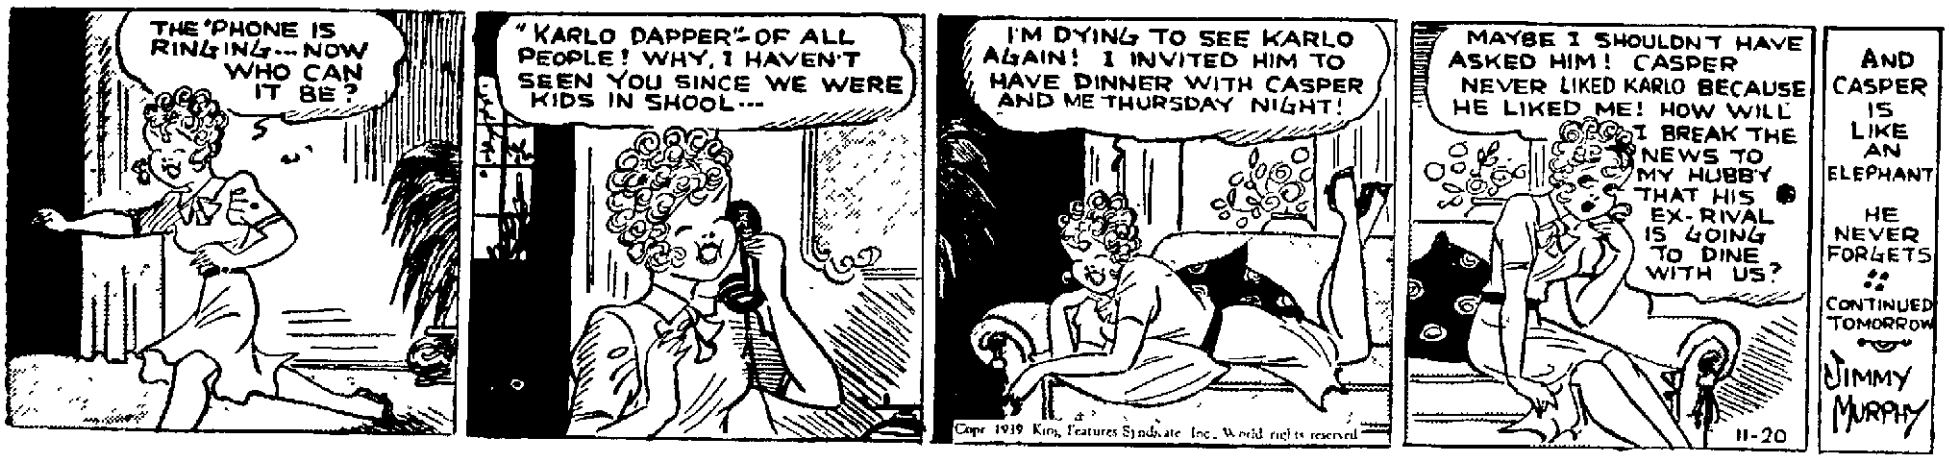
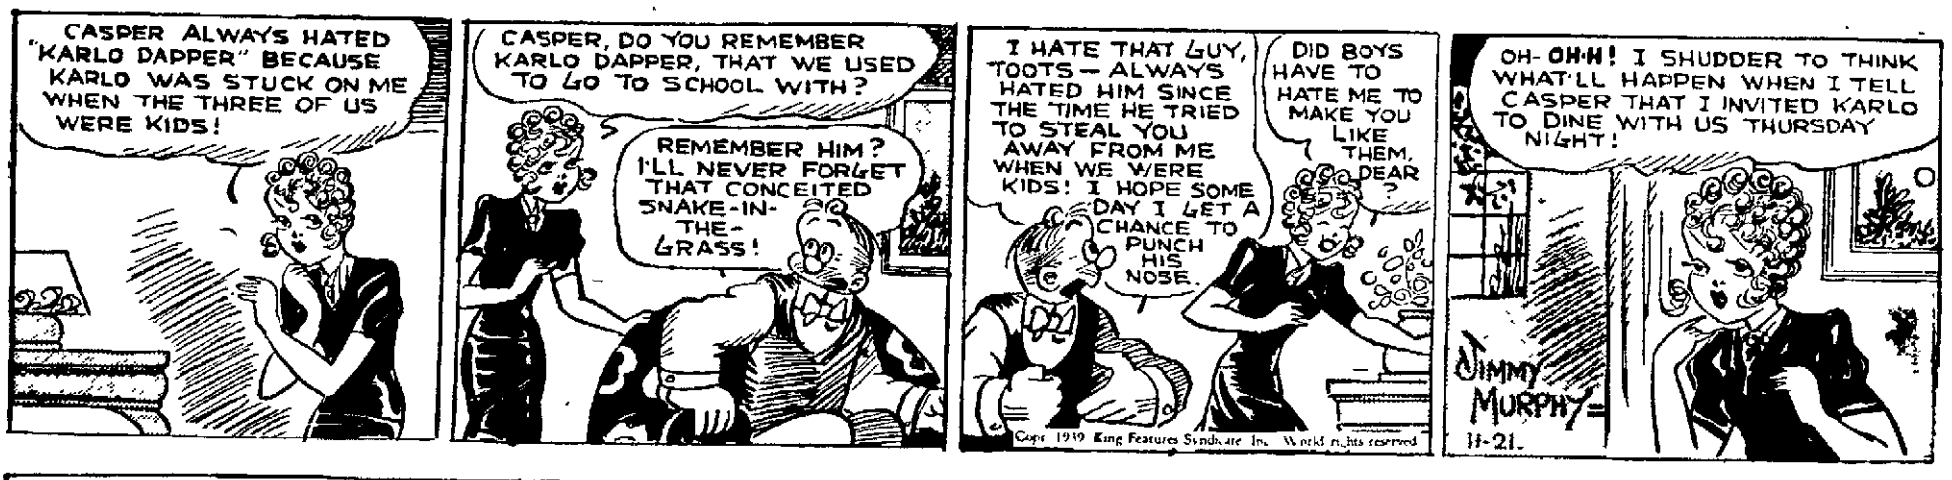
TOOTS AND CASPER



THE 'PHONE IS RINGING--- NOW WHO CAN IT BE?
"KARLO DAPPER"-OF ALL PEOPLE! WHY, I HAVEN'T SEEN YOU SINCE WE WERE KIDS IN SHOOL---
I'M DYING TO SEE KARLO AGAIN! I INVITED HIM TO HAVE DINNER WITH CASPER AND ME THURSDAY NIGHT!
Copr 1939 King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved
MAYBE I SHOULDN'T HAVE ASKED HIM! CASPER NEVER LIKED KARLO BECAUSE HE LIKED ME! HOW WILL I BREAK THE NEWS TO MY HUBBY THAT HIS EX-RIVAL IS GOING TO DINE WITH US?
11-20
AND CASPER IS LIKE AN ELEPHANT HE NEVER FORGETS
CONTINUED TOMORROW
JIMMY MURPHY



CASPER ALWAYS HATED "KARLO DAPPER" BECAUSE KARLO WAS STUCK ON ME WHEN THE THREE OF US WERE KIDS!
CASPER, DO YOU REMEMBER KARLO DAPPER, THAT WE USED TO GO TO SCHOOL WITH?
REMEMBER HIM? I'LL NEVER FORGET THAT CONCEITED SNAKE-IN-THE-GRASS!
I HATE THAT GUY, TOOTS — ALWAYS HATED HIM SINCE THE TIME HE TRIED TO STEAL YOU AWAY FROM ME WHEN WE WERE KIDS! I HOPE SOME DAY I GET A CHANCE TO PUNCH HIS NOSE.
DID BOYS HAVE TO HATE ME TO MAKE YOU LIKE THEM, DEAR?
Copr 1939 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
OH-OH-H! I SHUDDER TO THINK WHAT'LL HAPPEN WHEN I TELL CASPER THAT I INVITED KARLO TO DINE WITH US THURSDAY NIGHT!
JIMMY MURPHY

TOOTS, WHY DID YOU HAVE TO REMIND ME OF KARLO DAPPER? I'VE NEVER SEEN HIM SINCE I WAS TEN YEARS OLD, AND IF I DON'T SEE HIM AGAIN UNTIL I'M A THOUSAND, IT WILL BE TOO SOON!
Copr 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
HE TRIED TO KISS YOU ONCE--THOUGHT HE COULD STEAL YOU FROM ME--- WHY, THE LITTLE DOUBLE-CROSSER--- EVER SINCE THEN I'VE WISHED I HAD GIVEN HIM A COUPLE OF BLACK EYES!
CALM DOWN, HONEY! REMEMBER YOUR BLOOD-PRESSURE
BUT I SWEAR IF I EVER MEET HIM AGAIN I'LL KNOCK HIM INTO MINCE-MEAT!
WOWIE, AND I'VE INVITED KARLO TO DINE WITH US TOMORROW NIGHT--- HEAVENS, WHEN CASPER SEES HIM THERE'LL BE A WORLD WAR RIGHT HERE IN OUR HOUSE!
JIMMY MURPHY

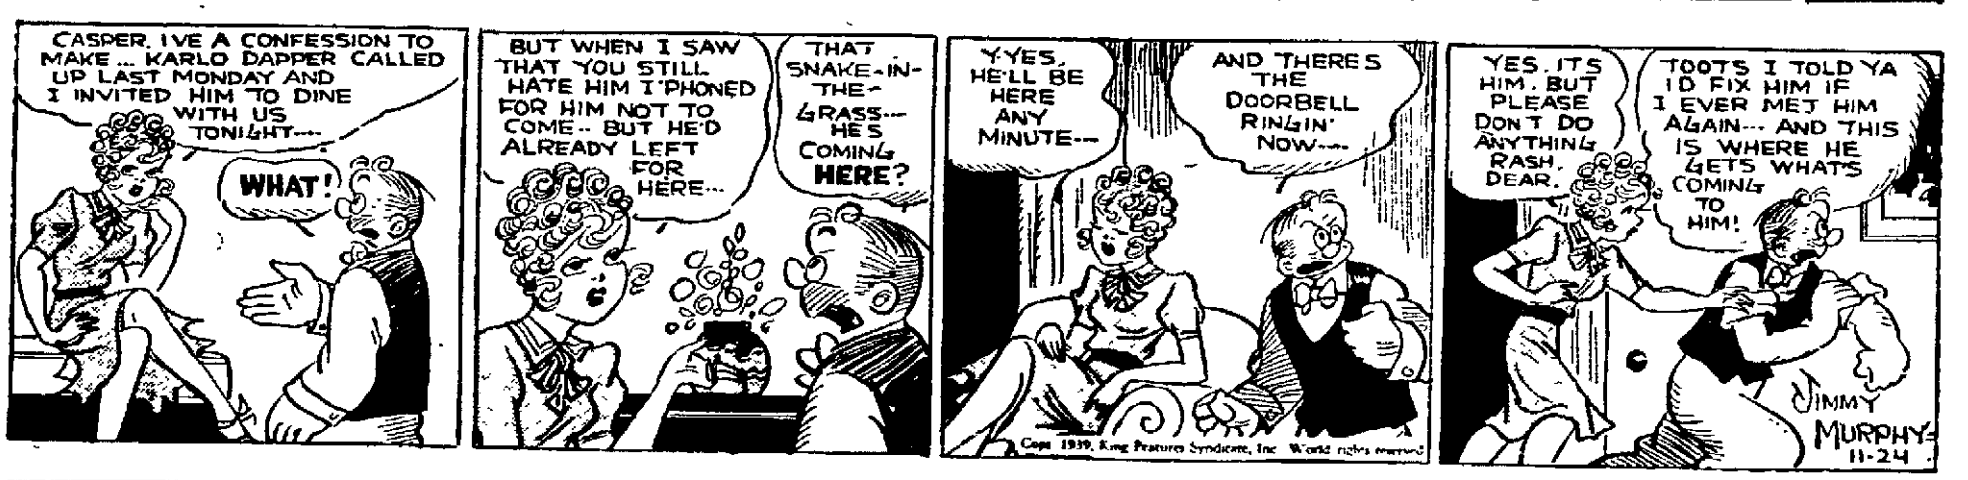
TOOTS, IF I EVER LAY EYES ON THAT GUY KARLO DAPPER AGAIN I'LL TEAR HIM LIMB FROM LIMB!
THAT SETTLES IT! I INVITED KARLO TO DINE WITH US TONIGHT, BUT TO KEEP PEACE IN THE FAMILY I'LL 'PHONE HIM NOT TO COME.
WHAT? YOU SAY KARLO DAPPER ISN'T THERE--- THAT HE'S ON HIS WAY HERE NOW! HEAVENS!
Copr 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
OH, HE'LL BE HERE ANY MINUTE NOW.... AND CASPER'S IN A RAGE--- OHH!
11-23
WHEN THE DOOR-BELL RINGS WATCH THE FUR FLY!
JIMMY MURPHY



CASPER, I'VE A CONFESSION TO MAKE... KARLO DAPPER CALLED UP LAST MONDAY AND I INVITED HIM TO DINE WITH US TONIGHT---
WHAT!
BUT WHEN I SAW THAT YOU STILL HATE HIM I 'PHONED FOR HIM NOT TO COME-- BUT HE'D ALREADY LEFT FOR HERE---
THAT SNAKE-IN-THE-GRASS--- HE'S COMING HERE?
Y-YES, HE'LL BE HERE ANY MINUTE--
AND THERE'S THE DOORBELL RINGIN' NOW---
Copr 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved
YES, ITS HIM. BUT PLEASE DON'T DO ANYTHING RASH, DEAR.
TOOTS I TOLD YA I'D FIX HIM IF I EVER MET HIM AGAIN--- AND THIS IS WHERE HE GETS WHAT'S COMING TO HIM!
JIMMY MURPHY
11-24

TELEGRAM FOR MR. AND MRS CASPER---
OH--ER--AH--- I THOUGHT YOU WERE SOMEBODY ELSE----
"AM UNEXPECTEDLY CALLED OUT OF TOWN, BUT WILL DROP IN TO SEE YOU ON MY RETURN MONDAY. BEST REGARDS. KARLO DAPPER".
WELL, THAT PROLONGS THE AGONY, TOOTS--- IT GIVES HIM A COUPLE OF MORE DAYS TO LIVE.
YOU SHOULDN'T DISLIKE HIM JUST BECAUSE HE USED TO LIKE ME, CASPER! HE REALLY WAS A LOVELY BOY.
JIMMY MURPHY

Ex-Bootleg King Seeks $196,000 From O'Hare Estate

REMUS CLAIMS MONEY DUE ON LIQUOR DEBT

Chicago Sportsmen Had Agreed to pay $250,000, Attorney Says In Petition.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — George Remus, prohibition era bootleg king, claimed $196,000 in probate court today from the estate of Edward J. O'Hare, race track magnate who was slain in gangland style Nov. 8. His attorney claimed the sum is the balance of $250,000 O'Hare had agreed to pay for liquor O'Hare and others were convicted of stealing from Remus at St. Louis in 1923.

Attorney Justis Chancellor, jr., filed the suit in Cook county probate court late yesterday. He said O'Hare made his last payment on the alleged debt less than three months before he was killed.

Remus, a former attorney, now has business interests at Cincinnati and Chicago. He was the government's chief witness against O'Hare and 21 co-defendants, including St. Louis and Cincinnati politicians, who had been indicted on a charge of having siphoned $200,000 worth of bonded whisky, owned by Remus, from barrels in the Jack Daniel distillery warehouse, St. Louis, which O'Hare operated. After the whisky disappeared Remus forfeited a $100,000 bond he had posted with the government as a guarantee that the whisky would be sold or removed from the warehouse only under government supervision.

15 Sent to Prison.

It was charged at the trial that his wife, Imogene, had taken part in the conspiracy. As a result of his testimony, 15 were sent to prison. O'Hare also was convicted but the U. S. circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati reversed the conviction in 1926 and remanded the case for a new trial. O'Hare never was retried.

Chancellor said today that O'Hare had agreed in writing after his trial to pay Remus $250,000 for loss of the whisky and forfeiture of the bond. He said Remus still is in possession of the written agreement.

Remus served a term at Atlanta penitentiary for liquor law violations. After his release he killed his wife. He was adjudged insane and later was released after it had been established that he had regained his sanity.

Glee Club Revives Old-Time Minstrel Program Monday

The reorganized Westinghouse Glee club will stage the "Alabama Minstrel and Variety Show" at 8 p. m. Monday at Senior high school auditorium under the auspices of the Martin Luther class of St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

The two-hour entertainment will be divided into two parts, both the minstrels and the variety show running an hour each.

The minstrel program with the men in costume, will be patterned after the old-time shows which were an American institution for many years. Max Williams will serve as interlocuter. End men will be William Wampfler, Glen Schroff, Lawrence (Bing) Chamberlain and Earl Adams. The circle will be made up of other members of the Glee club.

Vocal solos will be given by Adams, Wampfler, Chamberlain, Harry Meier, Dwight Hodgson and Charles Yarman.

Cecil Schill will be master of ceremonies for the variety show. Tap dancers are Glen Schroff and Jean Schill, and vocal numbers will be given by the Glee club, the Westinghouse quartet and Miss Doris Ranke. Helen Sampsell, accordionist, and Ureth Funston, accompanist, complete the list of musicians.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the show includes Floyd Hunt, William Mabee and Mrs. Charles Sheriff.

7 INJURED AS TRAINS CRASH

Freight, Passenger Express Hit Head-on; Engineer Near Death.

MONTREAL —(U.P.)— A westbound freight train, reportedly loaded with explosives, crashed head-on with a Canadian Pacific passenger express from Ottawa late last night, injuring seven persons, one critically.

Thomas Grenier, 51, engineer of the freight train, was burned so severely that it was feared he would die. Other victims of the accident, which occurred on the outskirts of Montreal, included both passengers and trainmen.

UNION OFFICIAL DIES

TOLEDO —(U.P.)— Harry Staton, 34 of Coffeyville, Kan., international vice president of the International Oil Workers Union (CIO), died yesterday at a hotel here. Coroner William M. Shapiro said death was due to natural causes.

Husband Quizzed In Knife Slaying of Wife

Up and Down THE STREET

There probably is a gnashing of teeth out Park avenue east today, for both names drawn last night in bank night at Warner theater, were persons residing on Park avenue east—and neither of them were there to claim either the $500 pot or the second pot of $50 which was started last night. Streets and sidewalks were jammed in the vicinity of all three theaters, while parking space in the downtown section was taxed to the limit. In fact the crowds were so dense that if a winner had been on the outer fringe he couldn't have heard his name called and it is doubtful if he could have reached the stage in the alloted three minutes.

A deer may be a timid animal but it will fight when attacked, Fred Harding, a farmer near Shenandoah, claims. He witnessed a battle between a buck, which invaded his premises, and a bull. And the buck won "horns down," Harding reported, the deer driving the bull back to the barn where he came. The deer was one of six reported seen in the county this year.

The boy who stood on the burning deck didn't have a whole lot on Mrs. Grayce Sanborn, 245 West Third street, whose home was damaged by fire Wednesday. For she stood at the kitchen sink and washed dishes while three fire wagons puffed outside and firemen were running all over the place. Unlike the boy on the deck, no one told her to stand there. She did it, she told friends, because "she was too paralyzed to think."

Miss Ruth Cox, formerly employed in the office of Westinghouse here and now in the Westinghouse office in Cleveland, continues to keep up her study of voice. Ruth was home over the holiday, visiting her sister, Mrs. Giles E. Hamilton, 170 West Third street, and other relatives. She was a member of the Three Grace Notes Trio here, and later sang with Jane Weuthrich and Bing Chamberlain in another trio. She is singing with three chorus groups in Cleveland and is a member of the choir of St. James Episcopal church. She went to Cleveland early this year.

GUILTY AGAIN

Shelby Man Gets 6-Month Jail Term For Drunken Driving.

His second conviction on a drunken driving charge in the past five weeks yesterday brought a six-month jail sentence for James Sargent, 45, of Shelby.

Sargent, who was released from the county jail Nov. 8, was sentenced again by Mayor D. R. Young of Shelby who imposed a 30-day sentence five weeks ago. Sargent served three weeks of the former sentence and then paid the balance of his fine and was released.

He was brought to the county jail late yesterday to begin serving his second sentence. Shelby police arrested Sargent Thursday in Shelby.

ANALYZE FOOD SERVED 22,000

Cincinnati Health Officials Try to Find Out What Made 33 Holiday Guests Ill.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI — Dr. Carl A. Wilzbach, city health commissioner, said he hoped a report today on chemical analysis of food would indicate what caused 33 of 22,000 persons who attended the nation's "largest Thanksgiving party" here to become ill.

The health commissioner declared ways of handling the dinner, served at God's Bible school, were "entirely satisfactory."

While only seven of those ill were in hospitals, Dr. Wilzbach said an exhaustive investigation will be conducted.

"Proper sanitary precautions were taken in cooking," the commissioner said. "Paper plates were used and table cloths were even changed frequently. We intend to check the sources of food supplied for the dinner."

Rev. Meredith G. Stanley, superintendent of the Bible school, said the illness was the first incident of its kind in the 39 years he had directed such dinners.

Each year the guests, many of them children picked up in busses, gather at the feast, sing songs and play games. The big party is served in "relays" of 2,500.

This year the party progressed as usual but a few hours after the feast many became acutely ill, Dr. Wilzbach related.

More than 7,500 pounds of freshkilled turkeys and 20,000 bottles of milk were consumed, the Bible school head said.

WIDOW STRICKEN

Mrs. Luella Steward, 72, Dies In Knox County Infirmary.

FREDERICKTOWN —Mrs. Luella Steward, 72 widow of Albert Steward, former Butler merchant, died in the Knox county infirmary today.

Surviving are a son, Harold of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. John Lewis and Mrs. Ardella Keller of Fredericktown; two brothers, A. J. Burger of Mansfield and J. A. Burger of Fredericktown, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Bollinger funeral home at 1 p. m. Sunday and at the Butler Methodist church at 2 p. m., with Rev. L. H. Endley officiating. Burial will be in Butler cemetery.

JUILET FREE TO MARRY ROMEO BUT PARENTS TAKE HER AWAY

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Juliet is free to marry Romeo today, but, unfortunately she has disappeared.

Under a ruling handed down in supreme court 10 days ago by Justice Isidor Wasservogel, Eileen Herrick, 20-year-old post-debutante, and George Lowther, 3rd, may meet at 5 p. m. and—if they choose—go at once to a clergyman or a justice of the peace.

But 24 hours before expiration of the 10-day waiting period decreed by the court, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Herrick went to the hospital where Eileen has been recuperating from her courtship ordeal and took her away. They did not go to the Herrick's home and their destination was unknown.

Lowther was making no attempt to discover Eileen's whereabouts. The 30-year-old suitor forced his sweetheart's parents to produce her in court Nov. 15 with a writ of habeas corpus after they had barred the doors of their home to him. He agreed then, after the justice had decided that Eileen was free to marry whom she chose, that he would not attempt to see her for 10 days.

Justice Wasservogel told Lowther that he might telephone Eileen at the hospital but the suitor has been unable to communicate with her because there was no telephone in her room.

But Lowther said he would start looking for her at 5 p. m. if he did not learn her whereabouts in the meantime and that they would be married as soon as she said the word.

RITES MONDAY

Traffic Victim's Body Arrives From Michigan Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Kathleen Sohl, 20, of Mansfield, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident Wednesday night near Wyandotte, Mich., will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Wappner funeral home. Rev. C. L. Kern of the South Main Evangelical church, will officiate. Place of burial had not been decided today.

The body will be returned to Mansfield late today from Wyandotte and it will be at the Wappner funeral home until after the services.

Mrs. Sohl, who lived at 290 South Diamond street, died early Thursday in a Wyandotte hospital. Her husband, Charles, injured in the same accident, is recovering in the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Sohl were on their way to Detroit to spend Thanksgiving when the crash occurred.

DIES 4 WEEKS AFTER INJURY

Mrs. Hecht, Franklin Township, Stricken; Was Lucas Native.

Mrs. Mary Hecht of Franklin township died at the Knofflock Convalescent home, Linden road, today. She suffered a fractured hip four weeks ago.

Mrs. Hecht was a native of Lucas and a member of the St. Peter's Catholic church.

Three brothers, John, of Franklin township and Phillip and Joseph A., of Mansfield, and a sister, Miss Christina Hecht of Franklin township, survive.

The body was removed to the Geiger funeral home, where friends may call. Arrangements are incomplete.

COLDLY HOLDS TO DENIAL OF BRUTAL CRIME

Arrested Few Hours After Being Accused as Slayer By Coroner's Jury.

(By United Press)

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—Herbert C. Patterson faced a barrage of questions with steadfast protests of innocence today as officials charged him with the knife-slaying of his wife in their St. Clair Shores home last Oct. 26.

Arrested in Hart, Mich., at the home of a relative last night a few hours after a coroner's jury had returned a verdict naming him as the slayer, Patterson was returned here and subjected to questioning which continued throughout the night.

Officers said the cold, scientifical demeanor of the Detroit automobile engineer was unbroken. They said he repeatedly maintained he was not the man who stabbed Mrs. Farrell Patterson four times in the breast and left her body on the kitchen floor.

Faces Arraignment.

Later this morning he was to be taken before a justice of the peace on a first degree murder charge for arraignment.

Patterson had been questioned at length immediately after the slaying. Bloodstains had been found on his trousers, his shoes and in the car he drove. These he attributed to a finger-cut incurred while trimming rose bushes. Mrs. Patterson's body was buried at Three Rivers only to be exhumed two weeks later and examined by Dr. Lemoyne Snyder of the state police.

The results of this examination, made known to the coroner's jury yesterday, may have had much to do with the verdict. Dr. Snyder reported he found no trace of milk or aspirin in Mrs. Patterson's stomach, contradicting one phase of the story told by her husband. He said that on the morning of Oct 26 he had given her a glass of milk and an aspirin.

Descendants of Pioneer New Englanders to Wed.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. —(AP)— Mr. and Mrs. Mason Garfield, of Concord and Cambridge, Mass., announced today the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alicia Rudolph Garfield, great granddaughter of President James A. Garfield, to Mr. John Boit Cabot of Boston.

This marriage, the date for which was not made public, will link two of Americas oldest families, whose forebears settled in and around Boston a century before revolutionary days.

Miss Garfield's maternal grandfather was the late General William Pew of Salem, Mass., distinguished in the Spanish-American war. Her paternal grandfather, Dr. Harry A. Garfield, was a former president of Williams college.

BYRD LEAVES TO JOIN EXPLORERS

Flies To Havana, Heading For Canal Zone and Flagship.

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd left the United States today for a three-year expedition to Little America.

He traveled by Pan American clipper to Havana, Cuba. From there he will fly to Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone, to meet his flagship, the North Star, for another period of exploration at the south pole.

Byrd said he expected to board the flagship Tuesday. The U. S. S. Bear also in the expedition, is to dock today at Norfolk, Va., then follow the North Star to their polar base.

Not That It Matters

Yes, It's Dull War, But Why Don't Britain, France Do Something About It?

—By JANE WILLIAMS

IT'S A DULL WAR, says Charles Boyer, French film star, who is back in America after a spell of tending French army horses. "It wasn't much of a war," he says, "so 10,000 of us were demobilized."

Most Americans, are completely in the dark as to what is happening behind the war fronts—if anything. If any dependence can be placed in the war correspondents. Germany is fighting a one-nation war, raising the very devil with her magnetic and parachute mines and submarines, sending hundreds of people and dozens of ships to the bottom of the sea.

But what is England doing? Or France? Is there any intention of waging a war against Hitler for his destruction of Poland, or are they just playing at war until the whole thing can be shelved? Do they hope to postpone action until America can be jockeyed into taking active part in it?

Are we to believe that England is so powerless that she can only wring her hands while Germany continues to take toll of her ships? So far Germany's losses have been negligible, according to German reports, while England admits she is taking heavy body blows to her shipping service.

So long as we are not taking any active part in the war and remain neutral, it really isn't any of our business how England and France fight their war—but the habit of kibitzing is strong in all of us. And we are inclined to agree with handsome Mr. Boyer that so far it's a dull war—except for the people who must ride in ships.

THE PORTLY leader of the German-American bund has learned one thing during his trial for larceny and it hasn't anything to do with using other people's money. He has learned, as so many men do learn—too late—that it's one thing to whisper sweet things in the moonlight and something else again to have them read aloud to a grinning court room.

"Dearest Darling Angel" may be a thrill to the Romeo who writes it—but it is just spinechills and goose pimples when he hears a prosecuting attorney read it.

But Mr. Kuhn isn't the first man to suffer from a back-wash of mush. Many a conservative husband blanches with sickening fear when his wife mentions that she still has his love letters.

THE confusion anent the Thanksgiving dates is best expressed in the story which a Red Cross Roll Call worker from Lexington tells me. She went to a home in her district on Thursday, Nov. 16. It was early afternoon and an elderly couple was just finishing a bounteous duck dinner with all the trimmings. The woman explained to the worker that they were "going along with the president" and having their Thanksgiving dinner on the 23rd.

"But this is only the 16th," the worker pointed out. It took a calendar and the day-before-issue of The News-Journal to convince the woman she was wrong. "That's what comes of all this change," she said. "Now we probably will have mush and milk on the president's Thanksgiving and goodness knows what we'll have on the real Thanksgiving day.

THE story still persists in Cleveland that Don Ameche is in Cleveland clinic, under an assumed name, and suffering from an incurable disease. Cleveland reporters have tried in vain to "crack" the story but the clinic officials staunchly deny it. He isn't there, nor has he been there, they say. Last week International News wired back in answer to a query that the actor was at Palm Springs, Cal. So that was that.

This week a Mansfield woman whose husband is in the clinic was told by one of the nurses that Ameche was in the clinic, despite denials. Now you can take your choice—he is or he isn't. But he is off the air with Rudy Vallee taking his place.

WHILE speaking in Kansas City last week Senator Robert Taft of Ohio publicly predicted that the Republican party will win in 1940 by 290 electoral votes.

Evidentally Mr. Taft has not had the advantage of growing up on a farm. If he had, he would know that it is not only impractical to count your chickens before they are hatched, but downright silly to count your eggs before they are laid.

THE secretary of war says that our army must be equipped and organized to "move very quickly."

Sounds like preparations for another "blitzkrieg." But Mr. Hitler who is the papa of the blitzkrieg idea can tell the secretary that even a "lightning war" can be slower than molasses in January.

FAIR ENOUGH!

More About Willie Bioff And How He Arrived at His Present Position of Power

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO—Willie Bioff, convicted of pandering in 1922 who became the labor dictator of the entire amusement industry, arrived at his position of power in the guise of bodyguard for George E. Browne, also of Chicago, who is president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and motion picture operators of the United States and Canada.

This enormous union of the manual and mechanical crafts of the stage, the screen and the night clubs is an important unit of the American Federation of Labor. Like many strictly local Chicago unions, it is ruled by strongarm methods enforced by racketeers who never have been identified with toil or with the labor movement in the honest sense of the term.

Browne was appointed receiver of the motion picture operators' union of Chicago, a union legitimate in form but conducted as a racket, when Tommy Maloy, the business agent, was killed several years ago.

Browne's nominal rule in the presidency of the I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. O., commonly known as the stagehands' union, was attended by a great increase in membership and power. Browne named Bioff personnal representative in the rich field of the Hollywood movie industry, where the Chicago panderer, with all but eight days to serve of a six months sentence, soon became boss.

Bioff also cast covetous eyes on the somewhat amateurish union of the motion picture actors and he and Browne last summer made an audacious attempt to kidnap into their organization all the unions of the performers of the stage, screen, night clubs and radio.

The controversy reached a point in which Browne and Bioff threatened to tie up the American amusement industry and all its branches if the performers refused to come in.

The actors realized that under Bioff they would be reduced to the status of contributors to the union funds and subject to his hoodlum whims and financial wants. Therefore, they determined to strike for their jurisdiction and in this situation Browne, at the last moment, backed down.

The motion picture actors, who had been denouncing Bioff as a hoodlum without actually knowing the facts of his criminal background in Chicago, then betrayed principle by lauding Bioff for his efforts in bringing about the settlement.

When their own selfish ends were gained the actors ceased to agitate the moral questions which lately they had ben urging for public consideration. They had been afraid that Bioff would lay a gross income tax on their huge salaries.

Bioff received $100,000 from a moving picture magnate in 1937 and when this transaction was disclosed in an inquiry at Sacramento, it was explained the money was a loan, not a gift. However, Bioff's income tax has been under investigation and the administration of the union which he dominates also has attracted the official attention of the Department of Justice.

Bioff never was a worker in any of the theatrical or moving picture trades or professions and never was elected to high office in the regular manner.

He got there as Browne's bodyguard and it is only now disclosed nationally that he still owes time on a sentence imposed in 1922 on proof that, in a specific instance, he accepted from a woman $29 which she had earned that day by entertaining thirteen men as a prostitute in a West Ssde dive.

he said, and not politics, when reminded that next year was campaign year which might find congress unwilling to boost taxes.

At dedication of the new Warm Springs community center Mr. Roosevelt uttered the remark which could be taken to mean he intends to retire on Jan. 20, 1941, and forego any third term bid.

He called the villagers' attention to their failure to ask him for a new postoffice.

"And what have we got?" he queried. "We have got a little over a year left. I do not know that the next administration would give Warm Springs a new postoffice."

"Maybe if I get (Postmaster General) Jim Farley and get him firmly by the neck, I might squeeze a postoffice out of him."

A question that popped into the minds of some of the president's listeners was whether he was using an editorial "we," and whether his statement could be translated into: "I've got a little over a year left."

His reference to the "next administration," some political observers suggested, could be interpreted as applying either to another term for himself or to the term of a successor. But ordinarily, they said, an allusion to a "next administration" would be considered as carrying the connotation of a change in administrations.

outcome of the game here would make no difference to the Buckeye undisputed title aspirations.

But conference orestige furnished only part of the inspiration for the Buckeyes and Wolverines. Ohio State sought revenge for a humiliating setback at the hands of Michigan in Columbus last November while Michigan sought to salvage a victory from a disappointing season. After being hailed as another "point-a-minute" eleven that couldn't miss the Big Ten championship, Michigan fell before Illinois and Minnesota.

Both squads trotted on the field minus the services of star players, because of injuries. Ohio State has lost Jim Langhurst, fullback, while Michigan was weakened by the loss of Ed Frutig, star end.

Johnny Hallabrin, Mansfield sophomore fullback, who was slated to start, was expected to take up most of the slack at the fullback post vacated by Langhurst.

SCIENTIST TOPIC

Necromancy Denounced in Lesson-Sermon Tomorrow.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "When they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter; should not a people seek unto their God?" (Isiah 8:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. . . . My son, walk not thou in the way with them: refrain thy foot from their path" (Proverbs 1:10.15).

UNITE FOR PARTY

First M. E. Societies to Hold Program at Church Friday.

Members of the Lucretia Hedges Missionary society and the Grace Guild will unite for a Christmas party and program at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the First Methodist church.

Included on the program will be musical numbers by Mary Eileen Schuler, and a series of dramatic interpretations by students of the Esther Lantz Dramatic studio.

Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor, will speak on "The Sanctity of Solitude," at the 10:30 a. m. service tomorrow. Robert Early will sing as a solo, "O God Have Mercy," by Mendelsoshn, and the choir will sing "Fear Not O Lord," by Rogers. Harold Gorsuch will be in charge of the Nursery School which meets at the same time.

Thelma Kennedy will be leader at the Epworth League service at 6:30 p. m. "Co-operating With God" is the subject to be discussed.

HERE 10 YEARS

Rev. Hagelbarger to Observe Anniversary of Pastorate.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will commemorate the 10th anniversary of his pastorate at First Christian church at services Sunday.

Rev. Hagelbarger came to Mansfield, Nov. 29, 1929 from the Norwood Avenue Christian church in Toledo, where he served as pastor for seven years. His pastorate here is the longest in the 106 years history of the church.

For the service at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow, he will preach on "The Ideal Church" in which he will review the church's history since he became its pastor.

Music for the service will include "A Prayer of Thanksgiving," sung by the choir, and two organ selections by Mrs. H. H. Clingan, organist. She will play "Song of Gratitude," by Cole and "Festival Postlude," by Reiff.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1939.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and be on the lookout for snow and ice most any day now.

With a Sunday sandwiched between two Thanksgivings, the bicarbonate of soda business should also be showing an uptrend.

School books are under suspicion of carrying communist propaganda—and even children's stories should not be disregarded, as, for instance, Little Red Riding Hood.

Wisdom of America's Course

EUROPE'S WAR, in its most recent phase of terrorism on the high seas, has served to emphasize the wisdom of this country's course in keeping United States ships out of danger zones and in acting to prevent American citizens from risking their lives by going to Europe during the duration of war.

In the long list of ships—Allied and neutral—sunk by submarines and floating mines within the past week, it is gratifying to note that no United States ships are included—which might easily have happened had it not been for the ban that is a part of the neutrality act.

The form which Nazi warfare on the seas has now taken not only imperils Allied craft but neutral shipping as well, and while the methods employed give cause for what appear to be legitimate grievances on the part of affected neutrals, it should be remembered that rules of so-called "humane" warfare have long since been abandoned and what had been regarded as atrocities have been adopted by the Hitler regime as common practice.

Release of floating mines in European sea lanes is in violation of international law and such deadly weapons may scatter over the sea to endanger property and lives long after the war is ended, and at great distances from the scenes of conflict.

It is recalled that after the World war the British and Germans were several years in cleaning up their stationary mine fields. It would take even longer to clear the seas of these floating implements of destruction.

Business Candidate Unlikely

GENERAL HUGH JOHNSON starts a new wave of political discussion by suggesting as a presidential candidate Wendell Willkie, "electric power magnate" and president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

"I think of some business men who couldn't be elected dog-catcher," says the general, "and I can think of some who could, and I think Mr. Willkie would make a very strong presidential candidate."

No doubt he would, among business men and other voters who have a business slant on public affairs. He is regarded as one of the ablest and most appealing representatives of the business viewpoint.

Whether any such representative of business would stand a chance of nomination or election for the presidency is another question. Most observers, whether partisans or independents, would probably say that no "business man" could have a chance at the highest office now, or in the immediate future.

Not that most Americans are really "against business." But the general public seems to feel that men of business training and environment are not likely to understand the "human problems of government" so well as candidates who have risen to prominence through minor public offices and display of political shrewdness.

Warns Against Second Feast

WHILE appetite may sanction two Thanksgiving feasts, as planned in several states, health argues against any such gormandizing, according to Dr. Logan Clendening, whose articles appear in The News-Journal.

Putting aside any partisan differentiation between "Franksgiving" and the traditional Thanksgiving, Dr. Clendening goes no further than warning against overworking the stomach.

"A stomach is temperamental and not partisan," he says, "and it was not designed to master two feasts in one week. . . . Your stomach juices and gall bladder mucosa will count your extra indulgences, no matter how complacent you may be about them. . . . Nature is quite fair, but quite inexorable."

So, for those who "eat to live" instead of "living to eat," one Thanksgiving feast will probably be considered a great plenty.

Much-Discussed Picture

AN ADVANTAGE in having a motion picture come to Mansfield after it has been exhibited in a number of other cities over the country is that opinions of other audiences and critics are available and it is possible to get a better idea of what is to be seen.

Such is the case with "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," now being shown here, and placed by some critics as the No. 1 picture of the year.

Because of the convincing manner in which this picture purports to portray the national scene, and in the way it inspires patriotism at the same time it is revealing political chicanery, it appears that "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" is likely to be at least the most discussed picture of the year, whether or not it hits top place on all points.

Present Benefits Preferred

THE CITY of Cincinnati will benefit from sensible handling of an eccentric bequest. A woman who died several years ago left an estate to the city on the Ohio river with the provision that the income be invested and left intact for five hundred years. At that remote date Cincinnati was to receive the principal and accrued interest and use it for the city's children.

Relatives contested the will. Cincinnati decided to settle for a sum considerably less than the astronomical figure which, theoretically, would be available five centuries hence. With the $196,426 agreed upon, the city plans to build a new river-front playground and public park for children of the current century.

It would be a daring seer indeed who would confidently predict the value of such an investment at the end of 500 years, or who would even guarantee the principal to a beneficiary, let alone accumulated interest in excess of all the money coined or in circulation today.

A park for the present generation is more appealing, and doubtless more valuable, than the dream of fortune in an unforeseeable future.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I want you to know more about my friend Basil Fomeen, who is about six feet in height, and who used to be an officer in the White Russian army. Sometimes on winter nights I look him up, and then we sit and smoke long Russian cigarets, and talk about the days when the Kuban Cossacks were fighting the Bolsheviks. That was long before Fomeen came to America and became an inventor and a musician. He plays the accordion. His orchestra is a fixture in the hotel dining rooms of New York. You can hear him play old muscovite rhapsodies, and you carry them away as if they were engraved on old Russian coins. Right now he is at the Belmont Plaza, after almost two years at the St. Moritz.

There is a story about him which he never mentioned until Ethel Shutta outlined it for me, and then I went to him and asked him about it. He seemed a little embarrassed. He said, "Where did you get that?" He said, "Do you know the man's name?" He said, "Since you know a part of it, I'll straighten it out for you—but I don't want the other man's name mentioned."

And so he gave me the straight of it—a sort of reunion in Manhattan story.

KHARKOFF is in Russia. There used to be a night club in Kharkoff known as the Cafe of the Gay Canary. White officers used to go there at night, to warm their hands in vodka, and listen to the music, and make loud conversation. One night the general of the Kuban Cossacks and his staff were there, Fomeen among them. This general was a notorious anti-Semite. It so happened that a new master of ceremonies came out that night and demanded that the audience make less noise. They were making more noise than the actors. The old general threw up his head. He said, "Look at that fellow. We'd better outline him and teach him some manners."

To "outline" a man was to stand him against a wall and shoot a pattern around him—drill his outline with bullet holes, see how close you could come to him without hitting him. But of course, someone always "missed"—and there was a call for the undertaker, and an "error" to wink off.

As Fomeen remembers it, one of the younger officers looked up with a sort of mute appeal in his eyes. Fomeen caught it, and turned to the general. "Excellency," he said, "I wish you'd give me the pleasure of dealing with this swine myself. I have personal reasons."

"Go ahead," said the general, who seemed pleased.

SO BASIL FOMEEN and this other young officer got up and saluted and went back to the boy's dressing room. Probably they slapped his face, for others were there. They dragged out their guns. "Come on," Fomeen said bluntly. They dragged him out into the black, ugly night, where they patted him on the back and shook hands with him, and whispered, "Now run like hell, and don't ever come back." The young fellow seemed grateful. He disappeared. After a few moments, Fomeen fired his guns into the air, and they went back inside.

That was a long time ago. That was when the Whites and the Reds were leaving a trail of still somber crimson everywhere they met. Then the years began blowing away, and one night in Manhattan, Fomeen came face to face with the man whose life he had saved.

The only reason for writing this story is that this man, this former m. c. of the Gay Canary, is now a big success in the films. He is a star. He is flying high . . . so high, almost, that it's hard for him to remember the old days, when his life hung on the whim of an anti-Red general. And so, when he met Fomeen, he nodded casually, and passed on. As if to say, "Fancy meeting you here." You wouldn't think such things could happen. But they do.

TWO MORE ALLIES ADVANCE

Pocket Battleships Are Problem

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Few laymen understand the difficulties which confront the British and French navies in running down the Nazi pocket battleships. Nearly everyone now knows that there are only about three ships in the whole British navy—the battle cruisers—which are capable both of overhauling the pocket battleships and then sinking them. Incidentally the United States navy has neither the pocket battleship nor the battle cruiser—has none under construction—and unless developments should shake the present determination of the admirals our navy has no intention of ever building them.

But what the layman does not appreciate is the difficulty of hunting down a pocket battleship with numbers rather than with power. In arguments about the situation, for examle, some layman will demand to know why a squadron of destroyers does not go after each of the pocket battleships reported to be preying on our commerce, and hound it to death like a pack of wolves might destroy a bear.

Two or three of the wolves might be killed, the layman will say, but the pack would kill the bear. Or, translating the simile, two or five of the destroyers, if the pursuing craft are destroyers, might be sunk, but the squadron would get the pocket battleship.

It is by no means as simple as that. Naval experts say that the only function destroyers could play in such a chase would be as scouts. The only thing they could do would be to locate the pocket battleship, and keep contact with her, so to speak, until a battle cruiser could come up for the kill.

WHAT the layman does not appreciate in his theory about a whole squadron of destroyers attacking a pocket battleship is the amazing accuracy of present-day gunfire even at tremendous ranges.

Of course the destroyers have slightly greater speed than the pocket battleships, and therefore could determine the range at which the action would be fought. But unless they could come up fairly close under cover of fog without being detected they would all be sent to the bottom before they got close enough to fire a shot or dispatch a torpedo with any hope of its finding its mark.

For accuracy a submarine or torpedo boat must be very much closer to its target than a big-gun ship. For example, the face of a chief gunnery officer of a battleship would be very red indeed if he did not hit a target as big as a destroyer on the third salvo—at a distance of 20,000 yards and with the battleship from which he wes firing proceeding at full speed in a rolling sea!

AS LONG ago as 1923 this writer watched the old battleship Iowa being sunk by gunfire at 20,000 yards, with the Mississippi, which was shooting with 14-inch guns, proceeding at full speed, and the Iowa maneuvering under radio control. In the 16 years which have intervened there has been enormous improvement in the accuracy of naval gunnery.

Besides, the pocket battleships carry airplanes, which are not only useful for scouting the surrounding ocean, but can be used with amazing precision, by triangulation, for aiming the heavy guns of the ship when the target is over the horizon.

It would be suicide to send a whole fleet of smaller craft against a pocket battleship except on the long chance that, in fog or mist, they might get close enough to loose a school of torpedoes.

Nix On Pedestals!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE'RE always condemning people because they don't come up to our ideals, getting mad at them because they won't fit in with some delightful picture which we've painted.

All our lives we've cherished that picture, priding ourselves on its perfection. Then along comes a new friend or a new wife or husband, and at once we decide that they are Our Dream Come True.

And for a while such seems to be the case. Then gradually we realize that we have made a mistake. Why, they're not what we thought they were at all! They're full of faults. Horrid faults. Silly little ways. They've bad tempers. And they fib. And tell stupid jokes. And are lazy and untidy, and oh, so inconsiderate. In fact, they fall short of all our lovely standards.

SO WE feel ourselves cheated and become indignant and consumed with self pity. How can they fail us when we've trusted them to live up to our ideals!

How dreadful—how ungrateful of them to act like that when we had put them on a pedestal. What coarse creatures they are not to have appreciated our beautiful pedestal!

All we ask of them was to be perfect and let us worship them. And instead, they insist on expressing their own unworthy natures — thereby outraging our feelings and betraying our trust. So we wail and wheeze—NEVER REALIZING OUR OWN FOLLY AND UNFAIRNESS.

We are very proud of ourselves because we put people on pedestals and indulge in romantic ideals, but there is really little beauty or sense in such an attitude. We don't erect pedestals because we're wise and noble—we erect them because we're lazy and cowardly. It isn't hard to invent romantic ideals.

It is a most pleasant form of fantasy in which all adolescents indulge and through which they find escape from unpleasant reality. It is very hard and painful to face reality and accept life as it is and people as they are.

So, to escape such difficulty we make pedestals—AND PUT OUR BEST BELOVED IN THE DOG-HOUSE IF THEY DON'T STAY ON 'EM.

We have no more right to park people on pedestals than we have to cram them into strait-jackets. And they do not wrong us, nor prove their own unworthiness, if they refuse to stay parked or crammed.

People have a right to be themselves. That is their supreme right and their first duty. And we have no right to interfere with such expression in order to gratify our own sentimentality or bossiness.

IT IS BETTER TO BE A FIFTH-RATE, HONEST EXPRESSION OF YOUR OWN SELF THAN A FIRST-RATE COPY OF ANY ONE ELES'S IDEAL.

Modern Conveniences.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE FIERCE HEAT of steel furnaces roaring full blast shed a glow of business prosperity over the somber November landscape.

In Pittsburgh, Gary, Birmingham, Youngstown and other industrial centers, sweating men and whirring machines were turning out steel as they never did before. With mills near practical capacity, ingot production was rated at a record high, surpassing even fabulous 1929.

It was boom times again in the steel industry, backbone of the machine age and of mechanized war.

Was it a war boom only?

Heavy Industry Up.

Steel led the dormant heavy industries in one of the swiftest Autumn revivals ever seen in the United States. Week by week, from August through October and into November, business indices went straight up. The AP industrial activity index soared to the highest point in 10 years.

And because the rapid upswing coincided so closely with Europe's new struggle, many tagged it a "war boom." The tremendous rush to buy steel and other materials in September and the consequent quick lift in production schedules, they reasoned, was at least partly motivated by an urge to accumulate supplies in anticipation of war business and possible wartime inflation of prices.

Now the war rise in the general business curve had flattened out, commodity prices had settled after a steep September jump, the stock market had drifted into the doldrums following a spectacular upsurge in the first 10 days of the war.

But debate continued in business circles as to what forces stirred such a lusty Autumn industrial advance, set the fires burning so fiercely in Pittsburgh's steel furnaces.

Payrolls and Dividends.

Actual war orders from Europe have been relatively small, outside the aircraft field, compared with the World war flood of purchases. Foreign trade has been disrupted by shipping hazards and war risk insurance. Industrial executives have been cautious in spending money for plant expansion. The Wall Street capital market took to the storm cellar on the outbreak of the struggle, halting new corporate financing.

Still business boomed to the highest November level in a decade, payrolls increased, merchants prepared for a big Christmas shopping season and corporation directors cut the juiciest dividend melons since 1936 and 1937.

As some Wall Street analysts doped it, what happened was this: Business had been climbing steadily since May on a revival in building, peak government spending, improvement in the capital goods industries. Inventories were declining. War came at about the time business usually feels an Autumn stimulus. The seasonal spur joined with a panicky war rush to replenish inventories and beat the gun on price advances, and gave the advancing business trend a powerful filip.

Overdue Peace Boom?

Railroads, public utilities, war industries chimed in with larger orders for machines and equipment, and some new plant expansion.

So one of the greatest industrial drives the nation has seen was on. Steel operations leaped from around 60% of capacity at the end of August to above 93% in November. Consumption of rubber, electric power, oil hit record figures. Rail loadings expanded sharply. Plants long unused began to go into production. Employment gained, although not fast enough to wipe out the estimated 8,500,000 to 9,000,000 still off payrolls.

England and France have placed some miscellaneous orders for trucks, army blankets, copper, steel, hospital supplies, etc. But war business from Europe as a major factor in the boom is rated in financial circles a question mark, despite revision of the U. S. neutrality law to permit arms sales.

Meanwhile, some business leaders and economists insist America's fat Thanksgiving along the heavy industrial front was essentially an overdue "peace boom," incidentally stimulated by the buying scramble.

Is a surgical operation dangerous when the patient has diabetes?

Interesting developments are taking place in practical surgery. They do not include any startling discoveries or advantages in research work. Rather, they consist in the perfection of technique by individuals in some one particular line.

Surgery of the heart is an example of this. The general principles of surgical attack on the heart are no different from those employed in every branch of surgery—the use of anesthesia, either general or local, the means to stop hemorrhage, the insistence on rigid asepsis. The difference consists in the fact that a surgeon skills himself to perform delicate and dangerous procedures with which other surgeons are not familiar.

The surgery of diabetics also falls into this class. Before the discovery of insulin, surgery on a diabetic was an extremely dangerous procedure. But the opportunity of the use of insulin has changed all this and made diabetic surgery quite safe.

Three types of operations must be considered by the surgeon who is consulted by the diabetic patient:

First, the surgery of urgency. The diabetic who has a ruptured appendix, or a perforated stomach ulcer, or who has been in an automobile accident, is entitled to surgical relief, diabetes or no diabetes. Fortunately, with modern methods and proper choice of an anesthetic, these operations are just as safe in the diabetic as in his non-diabetic fellowman.

Second, the operations that arise as a part of the course of diabetes itself, carbuncles, diabetic gangrene, etc.

Third, operations of election. In the old days, the diabetic who had gallstones simply had to live with his gallstones. Nowadays he has a choice.

A fourth type of diabetic surgery, which consists in an attempt to increase the sugar tolerance by cutting off a portion of the pancreas, is still sub judice.

What are the virus diseases?

It has been suggested that the following conditions are due to infection with filterable viruses: smallpox, vaccination against smallpox, warts, chicken-pox, fever blister and shingles, yellow fever, rabies, infantile paralysis, encephalitis, mumps, psittacosis, granulated eyelid, common cold, influenza, measles and whooping cough.

Does epilepsy begin in childhood?

Garrod found in a study of a thousand cases that 442 began before the age of 10. But convulsions in childhood are by no means always epilepsy. Parents are often frightened by the occurrence of a single convulsion into believing that their child is bound to a lifetime of epilepsy. Children have very sensitive brains and convulsions often occur in childhood from very simple things, such as a small rise in body temperature or indigestion.

QUOTES

Benito Mussolini: "It has been demonstrated historically that war with arms is the normal state of peoples."

Senator Wheeler: "A dictator is but the receiver for a bankrupt nation."

Dr. Samuel N. Stevens, of Northwestern University: "A hobby may keep a man broke, but it will also keep him mentally alive."

footballers would be barred from laboratories and libraries one day for every game they won.

One-Man Bund.

Quietly munching a piece of candy, Fuehrer Fritz Kuhn of the German-American Bund denied in a New York court this week that he stole $1,891 from the Bund. The Bund, he explained, operates on the "leadership principle." And he's the leader, privileged to do as he pleases with Bund funds.

Labor

Union Suits.

In half a dozen major cities, Uncle Sam is attacking the high cost of building by indicting contractors and labor union heads on anti-trust charges. The director of that drive indicated this week, however, that trust-busting would not mask union-busting. The anti-trust laws, said Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, "should not be used as an instrument to police strikes or to adjudicate labor controversies."

But they would be used, he warned, against "unreasonable restraints to prevent the use of cheaper material, improved equipment or more efficient methods . . . to compel hiring of useless and unnecessary labor . . . to enforce a system of graft and extortion . . . to enforce illegally fixed prices . . . to destroy an established and legitimate system of collective bargaining."

No Turkey.

On Sept. 30, just after CIO's United Auto Workers received 80% of the votes in an NLRB-conducted election of a collective bargaining agent for Chrysler workers, a UAW-Chrysler working contract expired. Six days later Chrysler fired 100 employes from its main Dodge plant at Detroit because they "refused to do their work and flouted discipline." The union charged the men had been dismissed for inability to keep pace with a production "speedup."

Paralysis spread to other Chrysler plants and to allied industries. The company called it a "slowdown" strike. UAW called it a lockout. By this week 100,000 men were idle, and Chrysler was six weeks behind in production of 1940 models.

Dickering for a new contract had continued, meanwhile—with James F. Dewey, federal mediator, sitting in to keep the negotiations moving. Main UAW demands, besides a voice in fixing production schedules, were a wage boost, vacations with pay, and the union shop.

America's War.

International Ladies Garment Workers Union helped found CIO in 1935, and for that was suspended from AFL. Then, last year, ILG withdrew from CIO, and its leaders urged peace in labor's divided house. And if that's not achieved by next May, the union's executive board said this week, ILG may rejoin AFL.

At Home

Storage Place.

On the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., in a 12-acre hay field deeded to the federal government last summer, masons are raising a $350,000 story-and-a-half Dutch colonial structure of weathered Dutchess County field stone to house the president's 5,000-volume library, his manuscripts and paintings, his ship models and naval prints—and the 6,000,000 personal and official letters and papers he has accumulated since he entered public life as a New York state senator in 1910.

The building is scheduled for completion next summer.

Power Truce Ends.

A battle almost as old as the New Deal seemed ended, last Aug. 15, when TVA bought the Tennessee eletric power properties of big Commonwealth & Southern Corp. Recently, however, the truce was broken when TVA Director David E. Lilienthal accused another C & S subsidiary, Alabama Power Co., of trying to obstruct TVA's rural electrification program. Answered C & S President Wendell L. Wilkie, this week: "It is certainly to be hoped that we are not in for another period of utility-baiting. . . . Investors will not put their money in a business which is subject to constant attack by important public officials."

People

Winner Pays—And Pays.

Lew Hahn, a New Yorker whose ancestors almost beat the Pilgrims to America, heads the National Retail Dry Goods Association. Last August he proposed that the Christmas shopping season be lengthened by shifting Thanksgiving from Nov. 30 to 23. President Roosevelt soon seconded the motion. And about half the states, including New York, fell in. But about half didn't — including Rhode Island, where Hahn's son goes to school. So Hahn had to buy two turkeys.

Reed's Reaction.

Oregon's tiny Reed College (enrollment 500) has one of the nation's few undefeated, untied football teams. And that's embarrassing—because Reed picks students for brains, not brawn. Lest the situation continue, peeved President Dexter Keezer announced that Re-elected: Louis J. Taber, of Columbus, for his ninth two-year term as master of the National Grange.

Forecast: In administration circles, a 1940-41 federal budget that will come a billion dollars closer to balancing than this year's.

Died: Methodist Bishop Wallace E. Brown, of Oregon; Isaac Fuld, co-inventor of the Ouija board; Felix Riesenberg, adventurer and writer; Dr. Sumner M. Roberts, othopedic surgeon; Abraham E. Rothstein, philanthropist and labor-dispute mediator.

SOCIAL WHIRL STILL KEEPING FOLK BUSY

Meetings of Smaller Organizations Fill Time Yesterday; Prizes Awarded In Card Games Featured By Club Members.

WHAT did Mansfield do yesterday? Oh, a lot of her residents were busily recuperating from Thanksgiving day, but others were continuing the scheme of things with meetings, entertainments and future plans. Mrs. Samuel Morgan opened her home on Wise avenue last night to members of L'Allegro club for two tables of five hundred. Mrs. C. L. Mauk won the prize. The members planned to have a gift exchange at the next meeting which will be held with Mrs. Perry Bush, 81 Mendota street.

A social meeting was held by members of the Pythian Sisters lodge at the home of Mrs. Alta Ruby, 139 Carpenter road. Mrs. Ethel Smith was associate hostess. Prizes in the games were won by Mrs. Nellie Phipps and Miss Anna Horn.

During the meeting announcement was made of the 12th district convention which will be held at Mt. Gilead Dec. 5 at 10 a. m. The hostesses served luncheon at small tables after the close of the play. The next regular meeting will be held Dec. 8 at the K. of P. Hall with Mrs. LaDoris Hess and her committee in charge of arrangements.

Members of the Ever Ready class of the United Brethren church met with Mrs. Fuller J. Dunson, Belmont avenue, last night. There were 10 members and two guests, Frances and Joan Marvin, present. Miss Betty Pagnard led the devotions, and games were played with prizes being awarded to the Misses Lois Groves and Juanita Hillman. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting, and plans were made for a Christmas party to be held next month. No date was set for the affair.

Mrs. Della Cochran was in charge of a meeting of the Past Councilors association, Daughters of America, yesterday afternoon at Eagle hall. Cards were played following the business, and at 6 oclock, Mrs. Grace Downs and her committee served dinner. The next meeting will be held at the hall on Dec. 22.

Reception Held at Linham Home For R. D. Owenses

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Linham gave a reception in honor of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Owens, last evening at the family home, 51 Ausdale avenue. Mrs. Owens was Miss Virginia Linham before her marriage in Greenup, Ky., on Oct. 29.

There were approximately 50 guests in attendance at the affair, and after a social evening, luncheon was served. The buffet table was decorated with a floral centerpiece, wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal pair and pink and white appointments. The couple received many wedding gifts from the guests in honor of the occasion.

Mrs Earl Schuler, an aunt of the bride, is planning to give a linen shower for her next Friday evening at her home on West Fifth street.

MET LAST NIGHT.

Members of the Lady Garfield council, Daughters of America, No. 24 met in the Eagle hall last night for a business and social session. Mrs. Clara Hicks was in charge, and officers were nominated During the social hour cards and bunco were played, and Mrs. Mary Sox and Mrs. Julia Grandstaff won the prizes. Mrs. Sadie Weil and her committee served the refreshments. The next meeting will be held Dec. 8 at the hall.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

The marriage of Miss Constance Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Madden, 36 Clairmont avenue, to Earl Hoover was announced this morning. Miss Madden and Mr Hoover were married June 18 at Ashland, Ky. Mr. Hoover, who is employed at The Mansfield News-Journal, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hoover, R. D. 5. The announcement was made at the home of Mr. Hoover's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Baker, 91 Flint street. Wednesday evening. The wedding was revealed when a telegram was delivered at the residence. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are at home at 69 Clifton avenue.

Mr and Mrs. Verne Miller, Cleveland, were holiday visitors at the home of Mr. Miller's parents. Mr. and Mrs. E. L Miller, Marion avenue.

THEATERS

Political Film at Ohio.

Washington political circles form the background of the picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," which opens today at the Ohio theater, with James Stewart and Jean Arthur in the starring roles. It is the story of an ambitious but gullible young man who goes to Washington as a senator. There he becomes just another political football until he realizes he is just being duped, then the action begins Included in the cast are such well-known screen personalities as Claude Rains, Edward Arnold, Eugene Pallette, Ruth Donnelly, Guy Kibbee, H. B. Warner, Harry Carey and Larry Sims, the "Baby Dumpling" of the "Blondie" series.

Penner at Madison.

Joe Penner as a mild little taxi-driver, who loves his pigeons, as well as Betty Grable, finds himself elected to be a race-horse owner and trainer with a group of savage taxi-drivers daring him to let the horse fail in his newest picture, "The Day the Bookies Wept," at the Madison theater tomorrow. The other half of the double-feature bill will be Leslie Howard in the love story, "Intermezzo," in which Ingrid Bergman, the Swedish actress, is introduced to movie audiences for the first time. Others in the cast are Edna Best, John Halliday, Enid Bennett, and Maria Flynn and Douglas Scott as the children. Both pictures open Saturday and continue through Tuesday.

Hedy Lamarr at Ritz.

When Hedy Lamarr arrived in Hollywood she was the master of five languages. French, Hungarian, German, Italian and English —enough linguistic talent to equip anybody for a motion picture career. But not for Hedy Lamarr. She had to learn a sixth language, Ammanese, for her role with Robert Taylor in "Lady of the Tropics." the headline feature at the Ritz, beginning Sunday. Co-featured on the bill will be "Frontier Marshal," starring Randolph Scott, Nancy Kelly, Cesar Romero, Binnie Barnes and John Carradine in a story of the wickedest, wildest town of the dangerous old West, where life wasn't worth a lead nickel, until a gun-fighting marshal (Randolph Scott) brought in the law at the shooting end of a sixgun.

Odets' Play at Park.

William Holden makes his screen debut as a star in the Park theater's presentation of "Golden Boy," the screen version of Clifford Odets' play, which starts Sunday, along with the picture, "The Triumph of Sherlock Holmes." The story concerns Holden, a young violinist who abandons music for quicker success in the prize ring, under the management of Adolphe Menjou, fight promoter. Barbara Stanwyck is cast as the "dame from Newark" for whom Holden renounces his music career. Rouben Mamoulian, former member of New York's Theatre Guild, directed the cast of "Golden Boy."

Majestic's Offering.

"Almost a Gentleman," the feature which opens Sunday at the Majestic theater is billed as a picture for dog-lovers, story-lovers and human lovers, a tale of a man who bore a grudge and vowed to settle it, of dog among dogs who bore ill to no man, and a girl who loved them both. The cast includes James Ellison and Helen Wood in the leading roles, assisted by Ace the Wonder Dog. The other picture on the double-feature bill is "Bad Lands," the story of ten men who, braving many dangers, trail a half-breed murderer across the Arizona wastelands, and are trapped by a band of blood-thirsty Apaches. In the cast are Robert Barrat, Andy Clyde, and Noah Beery, jr.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Elect Officers of Class; Plan Dinner Dec. 15

Officers of class 27 of the First Christian church were elected yesterday at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Jessie Rhoads. Mrs. Albert Wheeler was named teacher, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Mary Thornberry and Mrs. Audrey Tinkey. Mrs. A. E. Mann is secretary, and her assistant is Mrs Anna McVicar.

The treasurer is Mrs. Jessie Race, and the assistant is Mrs. H. E. Daubenspeck. Mrs. Rhoads is financial treasurer, and Mrs. Ralph Kornoely is program chairman. Mrs. W. J. Tappan is in charge of the devotional committee.

Yesterday there were 16 members and two guests, Mrs. Frank Emptage and Miss Irene Ludwig, in attendance. Mrs. Tappan led the devotions, and Mrs. Kornoely presented a program on Thanksgiving. Mrs. J. O. Byers was in charge of the business meeting. The class will have a covered-dish dinner Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Tappan on Park avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs George A Levy, 73 Highland avenue, have returned home after spending the Thanksgiving holiday with relatives in Bluffton, Ind.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Nov. 26.

Sunday's horoscope holds auguries rather conflicting and critical. There may be suddenly-precipitated events of far-reaching importance The profitable solution to such dubious predicaments is found in stratagem, tact, diplomacy and clear judgment, especially where the purely personal angle is involved This not only in social and domestic relations, but as a matter of business sagacity.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which cleverness, clear judgment, vigilance and business acumen are factors for defeating adverse and conflicting circumstances. There is much encouragement for progress, expansion and definite financial growth, but the personal equation, both in business ad domestic relations, is a determining factor.

A child born on this day, although having an impetuous and aggressive nature, may be friendly, compassionate, generous and just, with high aspirations and ideals.

For Monday, Nov. 27.

Monday's astrological forecast is rather dubious and perplexing, mainly because there are subtle, tricky or treacherous undercurrents menacing all relations, both business and private. Money matters are involved in both realms, calling for tact and prudence in their solution.

Those whose birthday it is may find a year of complicated or confused conditions, affecting both business and private affairs. Deception, treachery, misrepresentation and fraud menace, demanding prudent and cautious conduct if some definitely promising prospects are to be lucratively managed. Confer with superiors in doubtful situations.

A child born on this day may be talented, versatile, keen and shrewd, but possibly too "clever" for its own good.

Add Bulk To Thin Figure

By MME QUI VIVE

For a time some of the pretty dollies of the movies thought it a cute idea to look like famine victims.

We're not in favor of moon faces and there's no need of them; a little resistance against the good things of the table will slenderize the face as well as the body. But we're dead set against sunken cheeks and hollow eyes, which eventually beset the thin-faced baby and put her out of the beauty race. Health is fashionable. more fashionable than it has ever been Health means animation, high spirits, good musculature, bright eyes and brisk steps. No fellow wants to drag around a skinny little wraith who looks as if she will drop in her tracks and have to be lugged home.

Extreme emaciation requires a medical examination. That's a case for the family doctor to look after. We're talking now about the thin, wan-faced girl who gets that way because she hasn't enough sleep. nibbles but doesn't eat, tears around like a house afire. Too much activity, not enough rest and relaxation. There are millions of 'em.

The accused will please listen and do as she is told. She is to stop living on lettuce and pickles, the usual diet For breakfast she must have a bowlful of hot cereal. well garnished with sugar and cream. She'll say she seldom eats breakfast. Because she isn't in the habit of eating the first meal of the day she isn't hungry. the tummy doesn't demand it. A few mornings and she'll lap up her cereal and like it. Plenty of cream and sugar in her coffee. lots of butter on her toast. She'll be putting fat on her ribs and her cheeks will fill out.

She needs a balanced diet with plenty of rich milk added Milk contains nearly all the food elements needed by human beings. The more cream it contains, the better.

No need of overeating. the idea is merely shovel in sufficient fuel to compensate for wear and tear and to tuck away a little energy and resistance.

Nine hours of sleep every night. Two hours outdoors every day so that the lungs will have a good airing. Exercise should be moderate. Walking is good. an ideal exercise. Swimming is at the head of the list. Tennis is too strenuous for one who is underweight.

WINDOW CURTAIN

Do see that window curtains are wide enough to fall in deep folds at the windows. Sheer curtains, such as those in lace net, look best when they hang in graceful fulness. Don't buy one curtain or a narrow pair for a window so wide that the curtain will look as skimpy as a size 16 dress on a size 40 lady. Better buy two wide panels. or two narrow pairs or one wide pair, even if you have to sacrifice a little in quality, in order to make the window look well dressed.

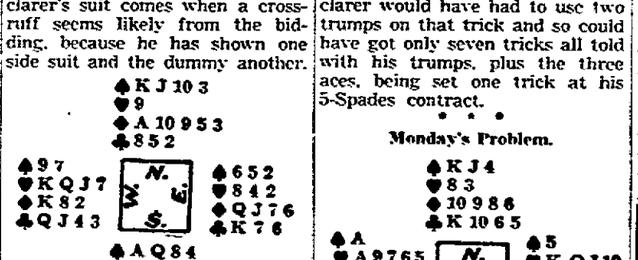
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DONT FORGET THIS.

Nothing could be more important in the art of successful leading, than to recognize the situations in which a trump lead is indicated. Many otherwise good players, nevertheless, seem always to avoid a lead of trumps as they would avoid poison, if they can find any other fairly natural lead in their hands. The most compelling time for a lead of the declarer's suit comes when a cross-ruff seems likely from the bidding, because he has shown one side suit and the dummy another.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable).

South bid 1-Heart here, North 2-Diamonds, South 2-Spades, North 4-Spades, South invited a slam with 5-Spades and North refused the invitation with a pass. West did not like to lead either of the red suits bid by the foe, so decided against hearts. This, he reckoned, left him no choice except clubs, so he led the Q of that suit.

The declarer won that with the A, then embarked on a cross ruff. He cashed the heart A, ruffed the 3, cashed the diamond A, ruffed the 3, then went back and forth trumping the heart 5, diamond 5, heart 6, diamond 9, heart 10 and diamond 10. The defenders also were able to trump in on the later ones of these tricks, but only with smaller trumps than the declarer's honors. Thus, besides cashing three aces, the declarer got eight tricks with trumps, using only one to a trick, for a total of eleven. He gave up the last two tricks in clubs.

Had West led a spade, the declarer would have had to use two trumps on that trick and so could have got only seven tricks all told with his trumps, plus the three aces, being set one trick at his 5-Spades contract.

Hotel Scene of Art Study Club Regular Session

There were 30 members of the Art Study club in attendance for a meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel yesterday afternoon. Mrs William Kuhn, Mrs. Fred Dippman and Mrs. D. Harry Landers were hostesses for the affair.

Mrs. David T. Talbot presented a paper on "Art at the New York World's Fair," in which she discussed masterpieces of art, murals, modern art and sculpture.

Mrs. Ray Hammer and Mrs. Frank Glasgow presided when tea was served at a long table decorated with yellow and white pompons and tall white tapers.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Dec. 8 at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road. Mrs Richard Fensch, Mrs. Leonard Nigh and Mrs. Frank Leavitt will be hostesses at that time.

Early Wedding Unites Couple at First Lutheran

At 8 a. m. today Rev. O. S. Goerner, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church, read the quiet ceremony which united in marriage Miss Florence Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Banks, Hedges street, and Frank Cipris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cipris, Superior street.

Miss Banks wore a grotto blue dress with a Talisman rose corsage. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cipris, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Cipris was also attired in grotto blue, with a corsage of pink roses.

After a trip through southern Ohio the couple will be at home with the bride's parents. Both are graduates of the Mansfield Senior high school, and she has been employed at the Holly Shop, while he works for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Buckeyes Not Represented on INS All-America

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor

ONE year can make a lot of difference in the football picture.

At this time last fall, the U. S. boasted of eight major undefeated college teams. Today there are only four.

Tennessee is the only major school with an unmarked defensive record. Duke was the lone school to hold this distinction in 1938.

Notre Dame was unbeaten as the grid season hit the last Saturday in November last fall. This year it's record is spotted by one defeat.

Dartmouth was the national scoring leader, whereas Utah fronts the pack this season.

Texas A. M. & M., which is one of the crack elevens in the country this year, was finding it difficult to keep from losing more than three games up to this week 12 months ago.

Remember Iowa State? It did not lose a ball game last fall, and has only two victories to show for their efforts so far this year.

Recognized as national champion in 1938, Texas Christian has been a setup for its foes this year, winning only two games.

About the only familiar thing about the two seasons is Chicago, which was at the bottom last year as it is again this fall. However, Chicago has company this year in Centenary.

YES, THEY DID!

QUESTION — Did Notre Dame and Southern California ever play in Soldier's field in Chicago? ANSWER — Yep, in 1929, and they attracted 112,912, the largest crowd ever to see a football game.

1939 to Go Down As Dizzy Season.

THIS has been about the dizziest football season in many years.

Before the opening kickoffs, Michigan, Northwestern and Purdue were rated as the teams to watch in the Big Ten. As the campaign comes to a close for Western conference clubs today, the Wolves, Wildcats and Boilermakers are definitely out of the race.

Ohio State was given little consideration in the pre-season dope, but the Bucks cinched a share of the title with the Illinois win, and will take it without a dispute today if they stop Tom Harmon & Co., as expected.

We doubt whether more than half of the Big Ten experts knew that Iowa was in the league several months ago. The Hawkeyes have stunned the grid world, and a portion of the title will become their property if Michigan upsets Ohio.

This was supposed to be Fordham's year in the east, but who does that look like on top—yep, resembles Cornell. Texas A. & M. has created more than a mild surprise in the southwest. A defeat for Southern California by Notre Dame will toss the Trojans out of the U. S. title picture.

Tennessee, apparently, is the only team which has lived up to expectations this season, and the Volunteers were rated for an undefeated season long, long ago because their schedule was not of the type to cause any great excitement.

Do you realize that this is the first time since 1933 that Bernie Bierman's name has not been mentioned for some other job for the following season?

Situation Changes In Gopher Country.

A COUPLE of defeats can make a big difference in the activities on a college campus.

When big Minnesota was on top of the heap, Gopher coaches paid little attention to the raids out-of-state schools made on that state's prepsters.

"You can have 'em, we've got our share," they probably thought.

Today things are vastly different in Minnesota. The Gophers are not as golden as of the days of yore, and Minnesotans are beginning to complain.

So now it is up to every loyal Gopher to make it his or her business to see that every grid prospect in the state is directed toward Minneapolis

If they succeed as well as the Ohioans did (and don't let anybody tell you that Coach Francis Schmidt is not collecting the cream of this state's prep stars), Minnesota will be back to make it tough for the big boys in the Big Ten.

LIONS, REDSKINS CLASH IN EASTERN FEATURE

NEW YORK —(INS)— The outstanding game of the National Football league tomorrow will be the clash between the Detroit Lions and the Redskins in Washington.

The Redskins, who have their eye on the title this year, will be fighting to hold their tie with the New York Giants for the eastern division lead. The Giants are 8 to 5 to trim the Brooklyn Dodgers in the former's back yard.

Stops Off For Bite to Eat

Ed Chatlain, Mansfield boy, and his fellow Wittenberg college gridders stopped off in Mansfield yesterday noon long enough for a bite to eat on their way to Oberlin and today's football's game. The News-Journal photographer snapped Ed, who holds down an end position for the Lutherans, as he was talking to his coach, T. William Stobbs. Although suffering from a knee injury, Ed has missed only two minutes of play in the last three games. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chatlain, Olivesburg road.

McKinley, Kolbe Renew Feud On Wednesday's Mitt Card

Ashland, Fremont Fighters to Appear on Program to Be Staged at Friendly House.

THERE has been considerable speculation among fight enthusiasts in this district as to what would happen if Ernie McKinley, top-ranking Ashland bantamweight, and Noibert Kolbe of Fremont met in a ring again.

Those two mittsters started their feud last year in a boxing show here and McKinley eeked out a close decision.

have been a draw.

A possible answer to the question may be forthcoming when the two lads tangle in one of the three-round bouts in the Friendly House winter boxing show at the settlement Wednesday night.

McKinley, who has been idle the past few weeks, has some impressive victories dangling from his belt and it will be interesting to see if he can emerge with a decisive decision.

The eight-bout program will be topped by a five-round setto between Jake Zacharias, 157, of the Friendly House and Micky McGuire 159, of Columbus. McGuire is reported to be one of the better Capital city fighters, and the battle should be a wild affair.

Paul Carbetta, of the Friendly House, former North Central Ohio flyweight champion, who has moved into the featherweight class, will receive his first test in that division by tackling George Ferguson, 117, of Columbus.

The other settlement boxer to participate on the card is Al Sauer, 166. He will be making his third appearance before Mansfield fans by meeting George Huess, 168, of Fremont.

* * *

Tickets for the show are on sale at Hunt's News depot, Corner Lunch, Athletic Supply store, City News, Ritz Night club, Daley's Cafe, Jess Willard, at the Mansfield Tire and the Friendly House.

Pace Triumphs On Technical K. O. In Eighth

2,970 See New Bantam Champ Turn Back Challenge Of Toronto Challenger.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Professional boxing strolled back into Cleveland last night with 2,970 fans on its arm and Promoter Bob Brickman immediately intensified plans to make the visit a permanent one.

Brickman said Buddy Knox, of Dayton, one of the midwest's top heavyweights, would headline the second show, scheduled for next Friday.

World's Champion Georgie Pace scored a technical knockout over Jimmy Webster, of Toronto, in the headliner of the introductory program. The Cleveland champ, recently named bantamweight titlist by the National Boxing association, won in the eighth round of their scheduled 10-rounder when Referee Lou Parker halted the fight.

Pace dropped Webster to his knees for no count in the seventh round and the Canadian lad was on the ropes when the bell rang. The bout went only 28 seconds into the eighth before Parker decided the reeling Webster couldn't last.

Webster won only one round, the second. Pace weighed 120¼ and Webster 119 for the non-title match.

Mike Gambiere, 138, Cleveland, decisioned Frannie Gilmore, 137, of Cincinnati, in the eight-round semi-final. Gilmore took counts of eight, nine and eight in the fifth round.

* * *

Preliminary results included Jimmy Reeves, 166, of Cleveland, decisioned Harold Dettman, 171, of Cleveland, in eight rounds; Eddie Morgan, 148, of Cleveland, knocked out Oscar Gardner, 155, of Cleveland, in the second; Charlie McCarthy, 163, of Canton, O., decisioned Jimmy Brinkman, 157, of Cleveland in four, and Bobby Root, 127, of Cleveland, beat Midge Mangine, 127, of Cleveland, in four.

DOBSON QUITS AS HEAD GRID COACH AT MARYLAND

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The resignation of Frank Dobson as head football coach of the University of Maryland awaits only formal acceptance, Geary P. Epply, director of athletics, announced today.

Although it has not yet been accepted by the athletic board, Epply said Dobson would not coach at Maryland next year. He denied that Dick Harlow, head coach at Harvard, had been signed to succeed Dobson.

Three Selected As Alternates

Scott, Sarkkinen and Andrako, Ohio Candidates, Miss Places on First and Second Teams.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Unbeaten, untied and unscored upon Tennessee, which many observers insist is one of the great football teams of all time, adds to its full measure of prestige today with two of its stars singled out for individual honors as members of the International News Service All-America team of 1939. Senior Quarterback George Cafego, West Virginia's current gift to the gridiron, and Bob Suffridge, junior guard who is a native son of Knoxville, dominated all candidates for their positions in a nationwide poll to give Tennessee the pre-eminence of being the only school with two players on the first team.

Sectionally, the first eleven is made up of three standouts from the South, three from the Mid-West, three from the East, one from the Southwest and one from the Coast. If it isn't the greatest team that it is possible to bring together—then try and beat it.

By way of prefacing the superlatives in behalf of this eleven, it may be mentioned that the line is fast and rugged and tough—according to the poll—and averages slightly more than 200 pounds from end to end. The backfield weighs 185 pounds and takes in all the prerequisites—ball-running, blocking, passing, kicking and the ability to go under virtually all conditions.

Ken Kavanaugh, of Louisiana State, one of the great pass-catchers of recent seasons, and Harlan Gustafson, of Penn, the ends: Harry Stella, of Army, who may be overlooked by many because he is with a weak team, and Nick Drahos of unbeaten and untied Cornell, at the tackles; Harry Smith, of U. S. C., virtually a unanimous choice, and Suffridge, at guards. John Haman, center, of Northwestern make up the super line.

Cafego at quarter, Nile Kinnick, Iowa's iron man, and Tom Harmon, of Michigan, at halves, and John Kimbrough, Texas A. and M.'s 200-pounder at fullback, make up the first string backfield—one that it seems quite likely could not be stopped with anything short of a firmly placed, reinforced line of tank traps.

Suffridge, Drahos, Harmon and Kimbrough are juniors, who are expected to be back next year harassing enemies up and down sundry and numerous fronts. The rest are seniors.

Each of the nation's four unbeaten and untied teams, except Duquesne, are represented, the others being Tennessee, Cornell and Texas A. and M. Duquesne received no votes for the first team even from its own sector.

One standout performer in particular who missed first team rating is Paul Christman, the Missouri all-around back. He played one game in which he was only fair and two others in which he was stopped to lose some of his luster. However, inasmuch as he has still another year to go, he can be depended upon to bob up next year. As it is, he earns a spot on the second team.

Others who barely missed first team selection were Bud Kerr, Notre Dame end; Gil Duggan, of Oklahoma, and Harley McCollum, Tulane, tackles; and such stellar backs as Kenny Washington, of U. C. L. A., Jim Lelanne, of North Carolina, and Beryl Clark, of Oklahoma, all members of the second team.

Coach Hank Richards' Adams bantamweight football team tackles the Akron, O., bantamweights in a tussle at Blue Goose field at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The Mansfield club will be seeking its third straight home triumph.

A new backfield star, whom Richards expects to add power to the team's attack, will make his debut. He is Don Greene, and according to Richards, is a hard running ball carrier and an accurate passer.

* * *

The Bantamweights biggest job will be to halt the famed Akron passing attack. The Akron gang relied on their aerial bombardment to hand the Cleveland Skippies their lone defeat recently.

Michigan Torn By Dissension?

Kromer's Return Home Said To Have Been 'Strike.'

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Its first undivided Big Ten football title since 1920 was the prize at stake for Ohio's Scarlet clad team today as it faced the Wolverines of Michigan before a crowd of 80,000.

With a perfect conference record, Ohio can clinch the championship in this final contest of its schedule but victory was by no means assured as the traditional rivals lined up for their 36th game.

Michigan rated as the nation's strong squad before its stunning upset by Illinois that left it ripe for defeat by Minnesota the week after, has otherwise demonstrated considerable power.

But Coach Fritz Crisler of Michigan is faced with more than merely overcoming Ohio's power today. Reports persist that the Michigan squad is torn by internal dissension.

Paul Kromers stop-off at home last week which was passed off as a school boy's need for money, is generally stated around the campus as a half-hearted strike. Injured in the second game of the season and used infrequently thereafter Kromer is reported rankling against his sideline job and has drawn several sympathizers.

Look, Georgetown Seek Bowl Bid, Too

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Georgetown university, after 60-odd years of football, is beginning to think about a post-season bowl game.

Undefeated for two years and unscored on in their last four games, the Hoyas from the pleasant hilltop which overlooks the capital are looking out over the nation. But Georgetown would not accept just any bowl bid.

Those who direct its athletic destinies think they have a team that could go into any bowl in the country and give any team in the country a busy afternoon.

It's Up to You From Now On, Mr. Harmon!

One reason why Tom Harmon plays so sensationally each Saturday is shown here. The Michigan line, led by Captain Archie Kodros, No. 53, blocks beautifully and opens the way for Tom to get into the secondary, where the star Wolverine back can peddle his own papers. Will they be able to do this against Ohio State today?

BOWLING SCORES

Joe Cheney of Moose Home League Hits 612 to Lead Scoring at Meder Alleys.

JOE CHENEY of the No. 7 team, Moose Home league, came through with a 612 to account for the only 600 total scored on the Meder Recreation alleys last night. Cheney, who rolled scores of 177, 227 and 208, led his team to a pair of wins over No. 4.

Team scoring laurels in the lodge league were annexed by No. 6, which hit 2593. Yingling and Beal set the pace with respective scores of 592 and 590 as No. 6 marked up two wins at the expense of No. 1. No. 8 swept its series with No. 2 and No. 5 won two games from No. 3.

With every member contributing a 500 or better, the Iron Finishing No. 1 team set the five-man scoring pace in the Ohio Brass league with a 2632 count, which was good for a sweep over the Experimental club.

General Office No. 1 was next high with a 2616 total, which produced a pair of wins over the Brass Foundry.

Individual scoring honors were won by Dunn of the Warehouse, who slapped out a 584 series. He led his team to two wins over the Core club.

Peru College Star No. 1 'Hard Luck' Candidate

PERU, Neb. —(AP)— Luther Hutton, 144-pound backfield ace for Peru Normal college, is a No. 1 hard luck candidate this season. Against Kearney Normal Hutton had a 75-yard run called back. Against Hustings college a 65-yard run was nullified. Against Chadron Normal Hutton lost runs of 40 and 35 yards. What made it most discouraging was that Chadron and Kearney are bitter foes of Peru.

The caribou's foot is really wonderfully made. In winter, the pad of the hoof shrinks back from the sharp rim, making the animal keen shod enough for even the most slippery ice.

To prevent a favorite gun being pitted with rust after you've left it in a cabinet for some time, get an ordinary tin container and punch the top full of holes, then fill with either common hydrated lime or calcium chloride and place in bottom of gun cabinet. These chemicals absorb moisture from the air when placed in the cabinet and should be baked in the oven once in a while, to dry out moisture that it collects. One filling will last for years.

Tularemia, though serious enough, need not spoil one's enjoyment of hunting rabbits, if reasonable care is exercised. If a rabbit seems slow and does not act naturally, better leave it alone. And as soon as a rabbit has been dressed, it's a good idea to wash the hands thoroughly.

Don't forget that pheasant season closes next Thursday, November 30th, so there's still time for you to get "your birds." MARRIED 50 YEARS

GALION—Because of the failing health of John Keller, he and his wife planned only a quite observance of their 59th wedding anniversary, today. They live on Grove avenue, their home for many years.

Since their marriage, Nov. 25, 1880, in Galion, they have always lived here.

GOES TO NORWAY

GALION—Of interest here is the transfer of Paul R. Adams of Westerleigh, N. Y., former Galion resident and employe of the North Electric and Mfg. company of Galion, to Norway. Adams is now an assistant patent attorney for the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and his transfer to Norwy will be for the duration of the war. He will sail for Oslo Dec. 9 on the Norwegian-American liner Stavangerfjord.

Mrs. Adams, the former Vivian Rigby of Galion, will bring her two children, Vivian, 6, and Paul jr., 4, to Gailon to visit her mother, Mrs. Catherine Rigby at 102 East Church street, until Mr. Adams is able to secure passports for the two children. Because of the war, passports are not being issued to children, at least at the present.

ON HONEYMOON

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. David D. Kail (Mary Benedict) whose marriage took place Wednesday afternoon in First Church of Christ, have left for a three weeks' trip to California. Upon their return they will establish their home in Ft. Wayne, Ind., where Mr. Kail is employed with the Allied Seeds corporation.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Benedict, of Marion, has made her home at Maplecrest, State King's Daughters home, while attending school here. Mr. Kail is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kail, Plymouth road.

DIES AT AGE 39

WILLARD — Mrs. Kathleen Czaplik, 39, died at Municipal hospital Thursday night a few hours after being admitted there. She had been suffering with heart complications for some time.

The body was taken to the Fink Funeral home, and Saturday will be removed to Connelsville, Pa., for services and burial. Her husband, Stanley B. and one son, Jack, survive.

FUNERAL TODAY

Milton Dickey, 85, Buried From Chapel He Helped Build.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held this afternoon near Ashland for Milton Dickey, 85, native of Ashland, who died in Bucyrus City hospital early Friday.

Services were held in the Dickey chapel which Mr. Dickey helped his grandfather build nearly 70 years ago. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

Mr. Dickey had been making his home with his grandson George Stout 219 West Lucas street for the past two years. He had been confined to the hospital for four weeks.

Two other grand children survive, Mrs. Clarence Decker of Galion and Mrs. William Schieber of Crestline.

SEAT OFFICERS

HOLMES JURORS AWARD $249 IN $10,000 ACTION

Farmer Allowed Expenses For Injuries Received In Mishap While Unloading Hay.

MILLERSBURG — After five hours deliberation a jury composed of four women and eight men returned a verdict awarding Cleo Hoover, plaintiff in a $10,249 damage suit, the sum of $249.75, the amount expended for medical care as the result of the accident.

Hoover contended that he was permanently injured while employed at the farm of J. Clark Smith west of Millersburg, July 12, 1938. Hoover was helping unload hay in the barn when the accident occurred as a piece of the equipment broke.

Jurymen sitting for the case were: R. S. Buckley, J. W. Norris, Ray H. Priest, Edna Phillips, Ila Lyton, Ruth Booth, Bert Crump, H. W. Spencer, Fred Michael, Lilda Mast, W. E. Allison and E. M. Cox.

Attorneys in the case were: Cary, Estill and Kuhn for plaintiff and Garver, Badger and Pyers for defendant.

SERVICE PLANNED

MILLERSBURG—Women's day will be observed at the Millersburg Church of Christ, Sunday morning, Dec. at 11:00 o'clock. A special program will take place of the regular morning worship service and will feature an address by Miss Wolfe of the Cleveland Christian home.

Rev. and Mrs. Levers, gospel singers of Centerville, who are frequently heard over Station WADC of Akron, will appear on the program with song numbers. Mrs. Levers was the former Faye Geisinger of the Ripley community.

INFANT BURIED

LUCAS—Funeral services for Terrance Zody, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Zody, of near Lucas, who died shortly after birth Thursday evening in the Mansfield General hospital, were held Saturday morning with Rev. C. B. A Stacy, pastor of the Mt. Zion church, officiating. Interment was made in the Mt. Zion cemetery.

Surviving are the parents and grandparents.

Germany Says Craft Used to Trap U-Boats Sunk by Torpedo Fire.

16 men of the crew of 20 were missing today after a 700-ton German minelayer struck a mine and sank near Langeland Island.

A German motorboat saved four or five men after the explosion. A Danish torpedo boat carrying a doctor, and four German ships were proceeding to the scene of the disaster.

BRITISH CAPTURE SUB

LONDON — (U.P.) — A reliable source said today that the British had captured a German submarine that was making a bold attempt to enter the lower reaches of the Firth of Clyde.

It was reported to be the same submarine and crew which entered Scapa Flow and sank the battleship Royal Oak. The report came from a private source and naval officials refused to confirm or deny it.

SINK OWN SHIP.

LONDON —(AP)— Scuttling of the 8,577-ton German steamer Adolf Woermann, in the South Atlantic to avoid capture, was reported today in a reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Capetown, Union of South Africa. Thirty-five passengers, including 18 women, and the crew of 127 were rescued.

DEATH CLAIMS RETIRED FARMER

BUCYRUS — William H. Weidmyre, 76, a retired farmer, died at his room on East street yesterday afternoon, following a heart attack. He had been in ill health for about a year.

He was born in Crawford county Aug. 13, 1863, and formerly resided in Tiro. Surviving him are two brothers and four sisters. They are: John Weidmyre, of Tiro, Thomas, residing in Sandusky township; Mrs. Amanda Dix, Shelby, Mrs. Daisy Donnenworth, Plymouth, Mrs. Mathilda Wenning, Mansfield, and Mrs. Eliza Graubaugh, Vernon township.

the other vehicle as he swung back onto the road.

The dry cleaning truck upset and landed on its side. Leemaster was not pinned in the wreckage. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Leemaster had been employed by West for 13 years and the accident was his first, it was reported. In another accident at 7:45 p. m. yesterday, Mrs. Mary Tyron, 28, escaped injuries when her car left the highway and struck a power pole, when a rear tire blew out, highway patrolmen reported. The accident happened about one mile west of Mansfield on U. S. route 30-S.

7 Escape Injury.

Seven persons escaped injury last night when a car driven by a 14-year-old youth sideswiped another machine on Glessner avenue near Wood street and then ran into a parked car.

Police said the machine was driven by Edward Mahoney, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mahoney, 403 Sherman place. They said the boy, driving his father's car, collided with a machine driven by Joseph Zimmerman, 429 Wood street, and then ran into a parked car owned by W. A. Lee, 119 East Second street.

Three youths riding with young Mahoney and Mrs. Zimmerman and her daughter escaped injury as did the drivers.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:

FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.

NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.

ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Willoughby house.

YESTERDAY: Seeking a new thrill and anxious to annoy her mother, Fabienne makes a wager with Nicky that she can do social work for three months.

CHAPTER FIVE

ELLEN CHAPMAN regarded her unexpected visitor with misgivings. She said, "I did, and do, want you to come and take an interest in Willoughby house. Miss Seymour, but I would like you to consider what you have asked me before definitely making up your mind. I'm afraid this is a hasty decision and you may regret it."

Fabienne shook her head impatiently. "I always make quick decisions, Miss Chapman. I've been entirely honest with you. I haven't promised to spend the rest of my life doing charitable work, but I have told you, and given my promise that I'll do whatever you wish me to for three months."

"Look here!" Fabienne had made up her mind and she didn't intend to be blocked. "You said that you didn't have enough money or workers. I'm offering my time and I want no money. I've told you that I want to do it to prove something. Does my motive matter?"

"Perhaps," Ellen Chapman said simply. "You have to have a heart for this work. It's hard work and you have to give some of yourself."

For a few minutes Fabienne had nothing to say. She had made a bet with Nicky. It wasn't to win Nicky's mare that she had taken him up. It was discontent in herself, a feeling of need for discipline until she could decide what she wanted. Perhaps it would be Nicky. She hoped so, in spite of her desire to foil her mother's plans. She liked Nicky better than anyone she had ever known, but she didn't love him. Well, Fabienne had never seen a man she could fall in love with and she was no dreaming romonticist.

She smiled winningly. "If I told you that I take direction well and am a willing worker, would you take a chance?"

The other girl answered that smile. She said, "If you come in here on the basis of a paid worker—even without a salary—you'll have to do the work of one. You'll have to take direction and there must be no favors expected. You'll be treated exactly as a paid worker, with duties assigned to you. You may not like them. You see we are highly organized, Miss Seymour, and we have so much work to do that each of us must act as if we were part of a disciplined army. Can you take that?"

"I can."

"When would you like to begin?"

"A week from Monday? Mother's sailing for Europe on Saturday. In the meantime I've got to find myself a hotel and pack."

"I've a rather modest place on Twelfth street. I might find you a small apartment there. It's not far from here."

"Thanks. I've practically decided on the Plaza. And I've a small car."

Ellen Chapman smiled a trifle wryly. "You'll find the Plaza a long way from Willoughby house," she said pleasantly. "I hope you'll come and have a supper with me some evening soon."

Gertrude sailed for Paris. Fabienne went to the boat with forty other people to see her off. Nicky had gone home to Maryland, but his orchids decorated the collar of her sable jacket. Gertrude was draped in gardenias and ermine. More gardenias and orchids practically filled the suite she had taken on A deck. So did the guests who drank champagne and departed amid a confusion of confetti, serpentine and chiffon handkerchiefs waved from jeweled wrists.

For one small moment, Fabienne Seymour's heart felt heavy with envy as the great ship swung out from the dock. Mother was going to Paris and she had committed herself to three months of manual labor.

She shrugged and followed Stu MacDonald into the elevator. "Let's go to La Conga and dance all night," she asked him. "Monday I become a working girl."

Stu thought that was pretty funny. "Doing what?"

"Telling bedtime stories to the kiddies," she told him.

Actually, she had an idea that it would be something like that. Actually, it was not.

"Good morning," Ellen Chapman said to her briskly when she appeared at the settlement house an hour later than she should have. "This is Miss Porter, who will be your director."

Miss Porter said, "You'd better wear low heels, Miss Seymour. I'm afraid you'll get tired standing all day in those. Now, we're going to start you for a week or two in the used clothes work."

Used clothes work. Fabienne couldn't have found it more distasteful if she'd been put to work washing dishes in a Greek restaurant. For eight hours a day she sorted soiled, worn clothes, saw them cleansed and ironed, distributed them for repairs and remaking, and washed her hands of them when they went to the distributing department. She did it grimly, but she did it uncomplainingly. She did it for nearly three weeks. Then one night, Ellen Chapman stopped her as she was going out and said, "Miss Seymour, you're a brick. I wonder if you'd be interested in taking over some of the reading work we do with young foreign men and women? Can you have supper with me? We can talk it over."

Much to her surprise, Fabienne found that she was pleased because Ellen Chapman was pleased. She thought about the invitation. If she went back to her suite at the Plaza, she'd either have her dinner in bed or go out and stay too late. She said, "Thanks, I'd like to."

In all her life she'd never dined without service. Candle light and trained, obsequious servants had attended her evening meals. Of course, occasionally there had been picnics. Picnics with the chauffeur carrying the hampers that had been packed by cook and butler.

Supper with Ellen Chapman was an experience. Ellen said, "It'll be simple. You rest while I get it together."

So Fabienne sat in the living room of Ellen's apartment and toyed with the keys of Ellen's small grand piano and looked at Ellen's etchings, at the comfortable chairs before the hearth, at the good rug on the old floor and was disgusted with serself because its good taste should have surprised her. Ellen, so plain, so effacing, didn't look as if she could have produced a background of this kind for herself.

Fabienne let her hands drift over the keys and realized she was hungry, regretted her decision to share a home-cooked supper. She'd probably have to eat canned beans and potato salad from a bakery.

In a surprisingly short time, Ellen said, "It's ready now."

Fabienne actually blinked when she saw the table.

A fine lace cloth covered it and bright-hued zinnias were massed in a pewter bowl between flickering candles. There was a ring of silver serving dishes that contained fragrant sweetbreads and tiny lima beans and a platter with two great, luscious-smelling stuffed baked potatoes. And in a bowl on the minute serving table there was a mixed green salad and a fine old cheese.

Fabienne said, "Ellen Chapman, suppose we learn things from one another? You're showing me things I didn't—"

The telephone rang and Ellen excused herself.

Fabienne heard her say, "Hello, Bill . . ."

When she came back, her cheeks were pink and her eyes had a sparkle in them.

Fabienne thought: Why, she's really pretty. Maybe I can do something about a waste of good material.

She said, "Who's Bill?"

Ellen gave her a surprised glance. She said, in a voice that was cool with reserve, "A friend of mine. May I serve you?"

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

For seconds that seemed interminable hours, Dicky and I, without speaking, looked at each other across the room in my father's Greenwich Village hideaway after Lillian left us.

But there were so many details unknown to me that questions were circling like live things around my brain. They began with the inexplicable letter Edith Fairfax had sent to me when I was in the New Hampshire camp, and ended with the last spiteful verbal thrust of the "secretary," that Edith had been primarily responsible for the hideous plot against my husband—and me. I had no illusions as to which of us Edith planned to hurt the more. Her implacable enmity to me, rooted in her hopeless infatuation for Dicky, was a malignant growth of many years. I doubted if she would ever be able to cut that cancer from her soul.

When Dicky finally spoke, his first words, considering the enormity of the plot against him and against my father, were almost ludicrously banal.

"I've been an awful fool, Madge," he said hesitatingly. "May I tell you about it? I'll feel better if I get, not absolution, but some sort of penance from you that will make me feel as if I were atoning a little bit for my—criminal carelessness."

I summoned up my courage to meet him adequately, for I knew I must not fail him in this hour of abasement.

"Of course, darling," I said quickly. "Tell me as much or as little as you choose. And do not blame yourself so severely. Remember, I know what Edith told that woman, that perfectly innocent actions on your part had been distorted, which I can well believe."

"Tell me!" Dicky demanded irrelevantly. "Do you think Ede really planned this whole mess, and had them plant it on me?"

Something primitive and spiteful within me impelled me to shout an emphatic "yes" to his question, but sanity and conscience stopped it on my lips.

Has Only Vague Idea.

"As I have only a very dim idea what the 'mess' really is," I replied evasively, "how can I possibly answer that question? But Edith did say, you remember, that while there was a certain amount of truth in the woman's accusation, she never had meant things to go so far, nor had she planned any of the things they were trying to do to you. Don't you think it might be a good idea to take her at her word? For my part, I'd much rather believe Edith than that other woman."

Dicky looked at me with an expression in his eyes that made mine drop.

"Heart of Gold!" he said tenderly. "You'd find excusses for the devil. Not that Ede's exactly a devil; she's simply half off her nut. But I guess you're right at that. We'll take her word that she was only the original spring board. But that's enough for me. Ede gets out of that office and our lives within the week. For I suppose you don't have to have three guesses to realize why she pulled this particular stunt, do you?"

Conn Honored By New York Boxing Writers.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Light heavyweight champion Billy Conn today was chosen by the New York Boxing Writers' association as the man who has done the most for boxing in the last year. He will receive the Edward J. Neil memorial trophy given annually in memory of the former boxing writer of the Associated Press. Conn received 18 votes and Joe Louis five.

Buckeyes Not Represented on INS All-America

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor

ONE year can make a lot of difference in the football picture.

At this time last fall, the U. S. boasted of eight major undefeated college teams. Today there are only four.

Tennessee is the only major school with an unmarked defensive record. Duke was the lone school to hold this distinction in 1938.

Notre Dame was unbeaten as the grid season hit the last Saturday in November last fall. This year it's record is spotted by one defeat.

Dartmouth was the national scoring leader, whereas Utah fronts the pack this season.

Texas A. M. & M., which is one of the crack elevens in the country this year, was finding it difficult to keep from losing more than three games up to this week 12 months ago.

Remember Iowa State? It did not lose a ball game last fall, and has only two victories to show for their efforts so far this year.

Recognized as national champion in 1938, Texas Christian has been a setup for its foes this year, winning only two games.

About the only familiar thing about the two seasons is Chicago, which was at the bottom last year as it is again this fall. However, Chicago has company this year in Centenary.

YES, THEY DID!

QUESTION — Did Notre Dame and Southern California ever play in Soldier's field in Chicago? ANSWER — Yep, in 1929, and they attracted 112,912, the largest crowd ever to see a football game.

1939 to Go Down As Dizzy Season.

THIS has been about the dizziest football season in many years.

Before the opening kickoffs, Michigan, Northwestern and Purdue were rated as the teams to watch in the Big Ten. As the campaign comes to a close for Western conference clubs today, the Wolves, Wildcats and Boilermakers are definitely out of the race.

Ohio State was given little consideration in the pre-season dope, but the Bucks cinched a share of the title with the Illinois win, and will take it without a dispute today if they stop Tom Harmon & Co., as expected.

We doubt whether more than half of the Big Ten experts knew that Iowa was in the league several months ago. The Hawkeyes have stunned the grid world, and a portion of the title will become their property if Michigan upsets Ohio.

This was supposed to be Fordham's year in the east, but who does that look like on top—yep, resembles Cornell. Texas A. & M. has created more than a mild surprise in the southwest. A defeat for Southern California by Notre Dame will toss the Trojans out of the U. S. title picture.

Tennessee, apparently, is the only team which has lived up to expectations this season, and the Volunteers were rated for an undefeated season long, long ago because their schedule was not of the type to cause any great excitement.

Do you realize that this is the first time since 1933 that Bernie Bierman's name has not been mentioned for some other job for the following season?

Situation Changes In Gopher Country.

A COUPLE of defeats can make a big difference in the activities on a college campus.

When big Minnesota was on top of the heap, Gopher coaches paid little attention to the raids out-of-state schools made on that state's prepsters.

"You can have 'em, we've got our share," they probably thought.

Today things are vastly different in Minnesota. The Gophers are not as golden as of the days of yore, and Minnesotans are beginning to complain.

So now it is up to every loyal Gopher to make it his or her business to see that every grid prospect in the state is directed toward Minneapolis.

If they succeed as well as the Ohioans did (and don't let anybody tell you that Coach Francis Schmidt is not collecting the cream of this state's prep stars), Minnesota will be back to make it tough for the big boys in the Big Ten.

LIONS, REDSKINS CLASH IN EASTERN FEATURE

NEW YORK —(INS)— The outstanding game of the National Football league tomorrow will be the clash between the Detroit Lions and the Redskins in Washington.

The Redskins, who have their eye on the title this year, will be fighting to hold their tie with the New York Giants for the eastern division lead. The Giants are 8 to 5 to trim the Brooklyn Dodgers in the former's back yard.

Stops Off For Bite to Eat

Ed Chatlain, Mansfield boy, and his fellow Wittenberg college gridders stopped off in Mansfield yesterday noon long enough for a bite to eat on their way to Oberlin and today's football's game. The News-Journal photographer snapped Ed, who holds down an end position for the Lutherans, as he was talking to his coach, T. William Stobbs. Although suffering from a knee injury, Ed has missed only two minutes of play in the last three games. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chatlain, Olivesburg road.

McKinley, Kolbe Renew Feud On Wednesday's Mitt Card

Ashland, Fremont Fighters to Appear on Program to Be Staged at Friendly House.

THERE has been considerable speculation among fight enthusiasts in this district as to what would happen if Ernie McKinley, top-ranking Ashland bantamweight, and Nolbert Kolbe of Fremont met in a ring again.

Those two mittsters started their feud last year in a boxing show here and McKinley eeked out a close decision.

have been a draw

A possible answer to the question may be forthcoming when the two lads tangle in one of the three-round bouts in the Friendly House winter boxing show at the settlement Wednesday night.

McKinley, who has been idle the past few weeks, has some impressive victories dangling from his belt and it will be interesting to see if he can emerge with a decisive decision.

The eight-bout program will be topped by a five-round setto between Jake Zacharias, 157, of the Friendly House and Micky McGuire 159, of Columbus McGuire is reported to be one of the better Capital city fighters, and the battle should be a wild affair.

Paul Carbetta, of the Friendly House, former North Central Ohio flyweight champion, who has moved into the featherweight class, will receive his first test in that division by tackling George Ferguson, 117, of Columbus.

The other settlement boxer to participate on the card is Al Sauer, 166. He will be making his third appearance before Mansfield fans by meeting George Huess, 168, of Fremont.

* * *

Tickets for the show are on sale at Hunt's News depot, Corner Lunch, Athletic Supply store, City News, Ritz Night club, Daley's Cafe, Jess Willard, at the Mansfield Tire and the Friendly House.

Pace Triumphs On Technical K. O. In Eighth

2,970 See New Bantam Champ Turn Back Challenge Of Toronto Challenger.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Professional boxing strolled back into Cleveland last night with 2,970 fans on its arm and Promoter Bob Brickman immediately intensified plans to make the visit a permanent one.

Brickman said Buddy Knox, of Dayton, one of the midwest's top heavyweights, would headline the second show, scheduled for next Friday.

World's Champion Georgie Pace scored a technical knockout over Jimmy Webster, of Toronto, in the headliner of the introductory program. The Cleveland champ, recently named bantamweight titlist by the National Boxing association, won in the eighth round of their scheduled 10-rounder when Referee Lou Parker halted the fight.

Pace dropped Webster to his knees for no count in the seventh round and the Canadian lad was on the ropes when the bell rang. The bout went only 28 seconds into the eighth before Parker decided the reeling Webster couldn't last.

Webster won only one round, the second. Pace weighed 120¼ and Webster 119 for the non-title match.

Mike Gambiere, 138, Cleveland, decisioned Frannie Gilmore, 137, of Cincinnati, in the eight-round semi-final. Gilmore took counts of eight, nine and eight in the fifth round.

* * *

Preliminary results included Jimmy Reeves, 166, of Cleveland, decisioned Harold Dettman, 171, of Cleveland, in eight rounds; Eddie Morgan, 148, of Cleveland, knocked out Oscar Gardner, 155, of Cleveland, in the second; Charlie McCarthy, 163, of Canton, O., decisioned Jimmy Brinkman, 157, of Cleveland in four, and Bobby Root, 127, of Cleveland, beat Midge Mangine, 127, of Cleveland, in four.

DOBSON QUITS AS HEAD GRID COACH AT MARYLAND

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The resignation of Frank Dobson as head football coach of the University of Maryland awaits only formal acceptance, Geary F. Epply, director of athletics, announced today.

Although it has not yet been accepted by the athletic board, Epply said Dobson would not coach at Maryland next year. He denied that Dick Harlow, head coach at Harvard, had been signed to succeed Dobson.

Rams Set For 'Surprise' Win

Hope to Knock Packers Out Of First Place Sunday.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The mighty Green Bay Packers, leading the National Football League's western division by a scant half-game, clash with Cleveland's battering Rams here tomorrow in a game that will go a long way toward deciding the title.

The second-place Chicago Bears are expected to have little trouble in the battle with their home-town rivals, the Cardinals, making a victory over Cleveland mandatory if the Packers hope to stay on top.

* * *

The unpredictable Cleveland club, which upset Detroit last week to virtually kill the Lions' title chances, is set for another "surprise" victory. The Rams have won only four of their nine league games, but one of the triumphs was over the Packers, 27 to 24.

SYRACUSE STARS INVADE ARENA WITH EX-BARONS

CLEVELAND—(INS)—With two former Cleveland players in the line-up, the Syracuse Stars invade the Arena for an International-American League hockey game with the Cleveland Barons tonight. The former Barons sold to the Stars are Harry (Yip) Foster and Art Berlett.

Three Selected As Alternates

Scott, Sarkkinen and Andrako, Ohio Candidates, Miss Places on First and Second Teams.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Unbeaten, untied and unscored upon Tennessee, which many observers insist is one of the great football teams of all time, adds to its full measure of prestige today with two of its stars singled out for individual honors as members of the International News Service All-America team of 1939. Senior Quarterback George Cafego, West Virginia's current gift to the gridiron, and Bob Suffridge, junior guard who is a native son of Knoxville, dominated all candidates for their positions in a nationwide poll to give Tennessee the pre-eminence of being the only school with two players on the first team.

Sectionally, the first eleven is made up of three standouts from the South, three from the Mid-West, three from the East, one from the Southwest and one from the Coast. If it isn't the greatest team that it is possible to bring together—then try and beat it.

By way of prefacing the superlatives in behalf of this eleven, it may be mentioned that the line is fast and rugged and tough—according to the poll—and averages slightly more than 200 pounds from end to end. The backfield weighs 185 pounds and takes in all the prerequisites—ball-running, blocking, passing, kicking and the ability to go under virtually all conditions.

Ken Kavanaugh, of Louisiana State, one of the great pass-catchers of recent seasons, and Harlan Gustafson, of Penn, the ends: Harry Stella, of Army, who may be overlooked by many because he is with a weak team, and Nick Drahos of unbeaten and untied Cornell, at the tackles; Harry Smith, of U. S. C., virtually a unanimous choice, and Suffridge, at guards, John Haman, center, of Northwestern make up the super line.

Cafego at quarter, Nile Kinnick, Iowa's iron man, and Tom Harmon, of Michigan, at halves, and John Kimbrough, Texas A. and M.'s 200-pounder at fullback, make up the first string backfield—one that it seems quite likely could not be stopped with anything short of a firmly placed, reinforced line of tank traps.

Suffridge, Drahos, Harmon and Kimbrough are juniors, who are expected to be back next year harassing enemies up and down sundry and numerous fronts. The rest are seniors.

Each of the nation's four unbeaten and untied teams, except Duquesne, are represented, the others being Tennessee, Cornell and Texas A. and M. Duquesne received no votes for the first team even from its own sector.

One standout performer in particular who missed first team rating is Paul Christman, the Missouri all-around back. He played one game in which he was only fair and two others in which he was stopped to lose some of his luster. However, inasmuch as he has still another year to go, he can be depended upon to bob up next year. As it is, he earns a spot on the second team.

Others who barely missed first team selection were Bud Kerr, Notre Dame end; Gil Duggan, of Oklahoma, and Harley McCollum, Tulane, tackles; and such stellar backs as Kenny Washington, of U. C. L. A., Jim Lelanne, of North Carolina, and Beryl Clark, of Oklahoma, all members of the second team.

Coach Hank Richards' Adams bantamweight football team tackles the Akron, O., bantamweights in a tussle at Blue Goose field at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The Mansfield club will be seeking its third straight home triumph.

A new backfield star, whom Richards expects to add power to the team's attack, will make his debut. He is Don Greene, and according to Richards, is a hard running ball carrier and an accurate passer.

The Bantamweights biggest job will be to halt the famed Akron passing attack. The Akron gang relied on their aerial bombardment to hand the Cleveland Skippies their lone defeat recently.

Michigan Torn By Dissension?

Kromer's Return Home Said To Have Been 'Strike.'

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—Its first undivided Big Ten football title since 1920 was the prize at stake for Ohio's Scarlet clad team today as it faced the Wolverines of Michigan before a crowd of 80,000.

With a perfect conference record, Ohio can clinch the championship in this final contest of its schedule but victory was by no means assured as the traditional rivals lined up for their 36th game.

Michigan rated as the nation's strong squad before its stunning upset by Illinois that left it ripe for defeat by Minnesota the week after, has otherwise demonstrated considerable power.

But Coach Fritz Crisler of Michigan is faced with more than merely overcoming Ohio's power today. Reports persist that the Michigan squad is torn by internal dissension.

Paul Kromers stop-off at home last week which was passed off as a school boy's need for money, is generally stated around the campus as a half-hearted strike. Injured in the second game of the season and used infrequently thereafter Kromer is reported rankling against his sideline job and has drawn several sympathizers.

Look, Georgetown Seek Bowl Bid, Too

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Georgetown university, after 60-odd years of football, is beginning to think about a post-season bowl game.

Undefeated for two years and unscored on in their last four games, the Hoyas from the pleasant hilltop which overlooks the capital are looking out over the nation. But Georgetown would not accept just any bowl bid.

Those who direct its athletic destinies think they have a team that could go into any bowl in the country and give any team in the country a busy afternoon.

It's Up to You From Now On, Mr. Harmon!

One reason why Tom Harmon plays so sensationally each Saturday is shown here. The Michigan line, led by Captain Archie Kodros, No. 58, blocks beautifully and opens the way for Tom to get into the secondary, where the star Wolverine back can peddle his own papers. Will they be able to do this against Ohio State today?

BOWLING SCORES

Joe Cheney of Moose Home League Hits 612 to Lead Scoring at Meder Alleys.

JOE CHENEY of the No 7 team, Moose Home league, came through with a 612 to account for the only 600 total scored on the Meder Recreation alleys last night. Cheney, who rolled scores of 177, 227 and 208, led his team to a pair of wins over No. 4.

Team scoring laurels in the lodge league were annexed by No. 6, which hit 2593. Yingling and Beal set the pace with respective scores of 592 and 590 as No. 6 marked up two wins at the expense of No 1. No. 8 swept its series with No. 2 and No. 5 won two games from No. 3.

With every member contributing a 500 or better, the Iron Finishing No. 1 team set the five-man scoring pace in the Ohio Brass league with a 2632 count, which was good for a sweep over the Experimental club.

General Office No. 1 was next high with a 2616 total, which produced a pair of wins over the Brass Foundry.

Individual scoring honors were won by Dunn of the Warehouse, who slapped out a 584 series. He led his team to two wins over the Core club.

Peru College Star No. 1 'Hard Luck' Candidate

PERU, Neb. —(AP)— Luther Hutton, 144-pound backfield ace for Peru Normal college, is a No. 1 hard luck candidate this season. Against Kearney Normal Hutton had a 75-yard run called back. Against Hustings college a 65-yard run was nullified. Against Chadron Normal Hutton lost runs of 40 and 35 yards. What made it most discouraging was that Chadron and Kearney are bitter foes of Peru.

Coons get around. One, eartagged by Michigan Conservation department, was shot by hunter last season 16 miles from place of tagging.

You can't do better on a trade-in for your old gun than at Yuncker Brothers Store. And any new gun you may choose can be purchased on an easy budget plan that fits the average fellow's needs to a T.

The caribou's foot is really wonderfully made. In winter, the pad of the hoof shrinks back from the sharp rim, making the animal keen shod enough for even the most slippery ice.

To prevent a favorite gun being pitted with rust after you've left it in a cabinet for some time, get an ordinary tin container and punch the top full of holes, then fill with either common hydrated lime or calcium chloride and place in bottom of gun cabinet. These chemicals absorb moisture from the air when placed in the cabinet and should be baked in the oven once in a while, to dry out moisture that it collects. One filling will last for years.

The conservation commission of Tennessee has put through a ruling that stops commercial fishing interests from taking black bass in all waters of the state, including Reelfoot Lake, in the northermost section, famous for the size and numbers of these great sporting fish.

Tularemia, though serious enough, need not spoil one's enjoyment of hunting rabbits, if reasonable care is exercised. If a rabbit seems slow and does not act naturally, better leave it alone. And as soon as a rabbit has been dressed, it's a good idea to wash the hands thoroughly.

Bayfield, Wisconsin, state fish hatchery, had to put up signs requesting visitors to leave their fishing equipment at the gate. It was found that some of the guests cheated, if they got the chance.

Don't forget that pheasant season closes next Thursday, November 30th, so there's still time for you to get "your birds." And don't forget Yuncker's "Longest Tail Feather" contest, which closes at the same time, with three valuable prize awards for the hunters bringing in the longest tail feathers from any "ringneck" shot this season.

MARRIED 50 YEARS

GALION—Because of the failing health of John Keller, he and his wife planned only a quite observance of their 59th wedding anniversary, today. They live on Grove avenue, their home for many years.

Since their marriage, Nov. 25, 1880, in Galion, they have always lived here.

GOES TO NORWAY

GALION—Of interest here is the transfer of Paul R. Adams of Westerleigh, N. Y., former Galion resident and employe of the North Electric and Mfg. company of Galion, to Norway. Adams is now an assistant patent attorney for the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and his transfer to Norwy will be for the duration of the war. He will sail for Oslo Dec. 9 on the Norwegian-American liner Stavangerfjord.

Mrs. Adams, the former Vivian Rigby of Galion, will bring her two children, Vivian, 6, and Paul jr., 4, to Gailon to visit her mother, Mrs. Catherine Rigby at 102 East Church street, until Mr. Adams is able to secure passports for the two children. Because of the war, passports are not being issued to children, at least at the present.

ON HONEYMOON

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. David D. Kail (Mary Benedict) whose marriage took place Wednesday afternoon in First Church of Christ, have left for a three weeks' trip to California. Upon their return they will establish their home in Ft. Wayne, Ind., where Mr. Kail is employed with the Allied Seeds corporation.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Benedict, of Marion, has made her home at Maplecrest, State King's Daughters home, while attending school here. Mr. Kail is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kail, Plymouth road.

DIES AT AGE 39

WILLARD — Mrs. Kathleen Czaplik, 39, died at Municipal hospital Thursday night a few hours after being admitted there. She had been suffering with heart complications for some time.

The body was taken to the Fink Funeral home, and Saturday will be removed to Connelsville, Pa., for services and burial. Her husband, Stanley B. and one son, Jack, survive.

FUNERAL TODAY

Milton Dickey, 85, Buried From Chapel He Helped Build.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held this afternoon near Ashland for Milton Dickey, 85, native of Ashland, who died in Bucyrus City hospital early Friday.

Services were held in the Dickey chapel which Mr. Dickey helped his grandfather build nearly 70 years ago. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

Mr. Dickey had been making his home with his grandson George Stout 219 West Lucas street for the past two years. He had been confined to the hospital for four weeks.

Two other grand children survive, Mrs. Clarence Decker of Galion and Mrs. William Schieber of Crestline.

HOLMES JURORS AWARD $249 IN $10,000 ACTION

Farmer Allowed Expenses For Injuries Received In Mishap While Unloading Hay.

MILLERSBURG — After five hours deliberation a jury composed of four women and eight men returned a verdict awarding Cleo Hoover, plaintiff in a $10,249 damage suit, the sum of $249.75, the amount expended for medical care as the result of the accident.

Hoover contended that he was permanently injured while employed at the farm of J. Clark Smith west of Millersburg, July 12, 1938. Hoover was helping unload hay in the barn when the accident occurred as a piece of the equipment broke.

Jurymen sitting for the case were: R. S. Buckley, J. W. Norris, Ray H. Priest, Edna Phillips, Ila Lyton, Ruth Booth, Bert Crump, H. W. Spencer, Fred Michael, Lilda Mast, W. E. Allison and E. M. Cox.

Attorneys in the case were: Cary, Estill and Kuhn for plaintiff and Garver, Badger and Pyers for defendant.

SERVICE PLANNED

MILLERSBURG—Women's day will be observed at the Millersburg Church of Christ, Sunday morning, Dec. at 11:00 o'clock. A special program will take place of the regular morning worship service and will feature an address by Miss Wolfe of the Cleveland Christian home.

Rev. and Mrs. Levers, gospel singers of Centerville, who are frequently heard over Station WADC of Akron, will appear on the program with song numbers. Mrs. Levers was the former Faye Geisinger of the Ripley community.

INFANT BURIED

LUCAS—Funeral services for Terrance Zody, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Zody, of near Lucas, who died shortly after birth Thursday evening in the Mansfield General hospital, were held Saturday morning with Rev. C. B. A. Stacy, pastor of the Mt. Zion church, officiating. Interment was made in the Mt. Zion cemetery.

Surviving are the parents and grandparents.

NAZI SUB SINKS BRITISH LINER

Germany Says Craft Used to Trap U-Boats Sunk by Torpedo Fire.

16 men of the crew of 20 were missing today after a 700-ton German minelayer struck a mine and sank near Langeland Island.

A German motorboat saved four or five men after the explosion. A Danish torpedo boat carrying a doctor, and four German ships were proceeding to the scene of the disaster.

BRITISH CAPTURE SUB

LONDON — (U.P.) — A reliable source said today that the British had captured a German submarine that was making a bold attempt to enter the lower reaches of the Firth of Clyde.

It was reported to be the same submarine and crew which entered Scapa Flow and sank the battleship Royal Oak. The report came from a private source and naval officials refused to confirm or deny it.

SINK OWN SHIP.

LONDON —(AP)— Scuttling of the 8,577-ton German steamer Adolf Woermann, in the South Atlantic to avoid capture, was reported today in a reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Capetown, Union of South Africa. Thirty-five passengers, including 18 women, and the crew of 127 were rescued.

DEATH CLAIMS RETIRED FARMER

BUCYRUS — William H. Weidmyre, 76, a retired farmer, died at his room on East street yesterday afternoon, following a heart attack. He had been in ill health for about a year.

He was born in Crawford county Aug. 13, 1863, and formerly resided in Tiro. Surviving him are two brothers and four sisters. They are: John Weidmyre, of Tiro, Thomas, residing in Sandusky township; Mrs. Amanda Dix, Shelby, Mrs. Daisy Donnenworth, Plymouth, Mrs. Mathilda Wenning, Mansfield, and Mrs. Eliza Graubaugh, Vernon township.

The body was removed to the Wise funeral home, where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday. Burial will be made at the Biddle cemetery.

TRUCK DRIVER FIGHTS FOR LIFE

the other vehicle as he swung back onto the road.

The dry cleaning truck upset and landed on its side. Leemaster was not pinned in the wreckage. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Leemaster had been employed by West for 13 years and the accident was his first, it was reported. In another accident at 7:45 p. m. yesterday, Mrs. Mary Tyron, 28, escaped injuries when her car left the highway and struck a power pole, when a rear tire blew out, highway patrolmen reported. The accident happened about one mile west of Mansfield on U. S. route 30-S.

7 Escape Injury.

Seven persons escaped injury last night when a car driven by a 14-year-old youth sideswiped another machine on Glessner avenue near Wood street and then ran into a parked car.

Police said the machine was driven by Edward Mahoney, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mahoney, 403 Sherman place. They said the boy, driving his father's car, collided with a machine driven by Joseph Zimmerman, 429 Wood street, and then ran into a parked car owned by W. A. Lee, 119 East Second street.

Three youths riding with young Mahoney and Mrs. Zimmerman and her daughter escaped injury as did the drivers.

SYNOPSIS

THE CHARACTERS:

FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.

NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.

ELLEN CHAPMAN, young and capable mistress of Willoughby house.

YESTERDAY: Seeking a new thrill and anxious to annoy her mother, Fabienne makes a wager with Nicky that she can do social work for three months.

CHAPTER FIVE

ELLEN CHAPMAN regarded her unexpected visitor with misgivings. She said, "I did, and do, want you to come and take an interest in Willoughby house, Miss Seymour, but I would like you to consider what you have asked me before definitely making up your mind. I'm afraid this is a hasty decision and you may regret it."

Fabienne shook her head impatiently. "I always make quick decisions, Miss Chapman. I've been entirely honest with you. I haven't promised to spend the rest of my life doing charitable work, but I have told you, and given my promise that I'll do whatever you wish me to for three months."

"Look here!" Fabienne had made up her mind and she didn't intend to be blocked. "You said that you didn't have enough money or workers. I'm offering my time and I want no money. I've told you that I want to do it to prove something. Does my motive matter?"

"Perhaps," Ellen Chapman said simply. "You have to have a heart for this work. It's hard work and you have to give some of yourself."

For a few minutes Fabienne had nothing to say. She had made a bet with Nicky. It wasn't to win Nicky's mare that she had taken him up. It was discontent in herself, a feeling of need for discipline until she could decide what she wanted. Perhaps it would be Nicky. She hoped so, in spite of her desire to foil her mother's plans. She liked Nicky better than anyone she had ever known, but she didn't love him. Well, Fabienne had never seen a man she could fall in love with and she was no dreaming romonticist.

She smiled winningly. "If I told you that I take direction well and am a willing worker, would you take a chance?"

The other girl answered that smile. She said, "If you come in here on the basis of a paid worker —even without a salary—you'll have to do the work of one. You'll have to take direction and there must be no favors expected. You'll be treated exactly as a paid worker, with duties assigned to you. You may not like them. You see we are highly organized, Miss Seymour, and we have so much work to do that each of us must act as if we were part of a disciplined army. Can you take that?"

"I can."

"When would you like to begin?"

"A week from Monday? Mother's sailing for Europe on Saturday. In the meantime I've got to find myself a hotel and pack."

"I've a rather modest place on Twelfth street. I might find you a small apartment there. It's not far from here."

"Thanks. I've practically decided on the Plaza. And I've a small car."

Ellen Chapman smiled a trifle wryly. "You'll find the Plaza a long way from Willoughby house," she said pleasantly. "I hope you'll come and have a supper with me some evening soon."

Gertrude sailed for Paris. Fabienne went to the boat with forty other people to see her off. Nicky had gone home to Maryland, but his orchids decorated the collar of her sable jacket. Gertrude was draped in gardenias and ermine. More gardenias and orchids practically filled the suite she had taken on A deck. So did the guests who drank champagne and departed amid a confusion of confetti, serpentine and chiffon handkerchiefs waved from jeweled wrists.

For one small moment, Fabienne Seymour's heart felt heavy with envy as the great ship swung out from the dock. Mother was going to Paris and she had committed herself to three months of manual labor.

She shrugged and followed Stu MacDonald into the elevator. "Let's go to La Conga and dance all night," she asked him. "Monday I become a working girl."

Stu thought that was pretty funny. "Doing what?"

"Telling bedtime stories to the kiddies," she told him.

Actually, she had an idea that it would be something like that. Actually, it was not.

"Good morning." Ellen Chapman said to her briskly when she appeared at the settlement house an hour later than she should have. "This is Miss Porter, who will be your director."

Miss Porter said, "You'd better wear low heels, Miss Seymour. I'm afraid you'll get tired standing all day in those. Now, we're going to start you for a week or two in the used clothes work."

Used clothes work. Fabienne couldn't have found it more distasteful if she'd been put to work washing dishes in a Greek restaurant. For eight hours a day she sorted soiled, worn clothes, saw them cleansed and ironed, distributed them for repairs and remaking, and washed her hands of them when they went to the distributing department. She did it grimly, but she did it uncomplainingly. She did it for nearly three weeks. Then one night, Ellen Chapman stopped her as she was going out and said, "Miss Seymour, you're a brick. I wonder if you'd be interested in taking over some of the reading work we do with young foreign men and women? Can you have supper with me? We can talk it over."

Much to her surprise, Fabienne found that she was pleased because Ellen Chapman was pleased. She thought about the invitation. If she went back to her suite at the Plaza, she'd either have her dinner in bed or go out and stay too late. She said, "Thanks, I'd like to."

In all her life she'd never dined without service. Candle light and trained, obsequious servants had attended her evening meals. Of course, occasionally there had been picnics. Picnics with the chauffeur carrying the hampers that had been packed by cook and butler.

Supper with Ellen Chapman was an experience. Ellen said, "It'll be simple. You rest while I get it together."

So Fabienne sat in the living room of Ellen's apartment and toyed with the keys of Ellen's small grand piano and looked at Ellen's etchings, at the comfortable chairs before the hearth, at the good rug on the old floor and was disgusted with serself because its good taste should have surprised her. Ellen, so plain, so effacing, didn't look as if she could have produced a background of this kind for herself.

Fabienne let her hands drift over the keys and realized she was hungry, regretted her decision to share a home-cooked supper. She'd probably have to eat canned beans and potato salad from a bakery.

In a surprisingly short time, Ellen said, "It's ready now."

Fabienne actually blinked when she saw the table.

A fine lace cloth covered it and bright-hued zinnias were massed in a pewter bowl between flickering candles. There was a ring of silver serving dishes that contained fragrant sweetbreads and tiny lima beans and a platter with two great, luscious-smelling stuffed baked potatoes. And in a bowl on the minute serving table there was a mixed green salad and a fine old cheese.

Fabienne said, "Ellen Chapman, suppose we learn things from one another? You're showing me things I didn't—"

The telephone rang and Ellen excused herself.

Fabienne heard her say, "Hello, Bill . . ."

When she came back, her cheeks were pink and her eyes had a sparkle in them.

Fabienne thought: Why, she's really pretty. Maybe I can do something about a waste of good material.

She said, "Who's Bill?"

Ellen gave her a surprised glance. She said, in a voice that was cool with reserve, "A friend of mine. May I serve you?"

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

For seconds that seemed interminable hours, Dicky and I, without speaking, looked at each other across the room in my father's Greenwich Village hideaway after Lillian left us.

But there were so many details unknown to me that questions were circling like live things around my brain. They began with the inexplicable letter Edith Fairfax had sent to me when I was in the New Hampshire camp, and ended with the last spiteful verbal thrust of the "secretary," that Edith had been primarily responsible for the hideous plot against my husband—and me. I had no illusions as to which of us Edith planned to hurt the more. Her implacable enmity to me, rooted in her hopeless infatuation for Dicky, was a malignant growth of many years. I doubted if she would ever be able to cut that cancer from her soul.

When Dicky finally spoke, his first words, considering the enormity of the plot against him and against my father, were almost ludicrously banal.

"I've been an awful fool, Madge," he said hesitatingly. "May I tell you about it? I'll feel better if I get, not absolution, but some sort of penance from you that will make me feel as if I were atoning a little bit for my—criminal carelessness."

I summoned up my courage to meet him adequately, for I knew I must not fail him in this hour of abasement.

"Of course, darling," I said quickly. "Tell me as much or as little as you choose. And do not blame yourself so severely. Remember, I know what Edith told that woman, that perfectly innocent actions on your part had been distorted, which I can well believe."

"Tell me!" Dicky demanded irrelevantly. "Do you think Ede really planned this whole mess, and had them plant it on me?"

Something primitive and spiteful within me impelled me to shout an emphatic "yes" to his question, but sanity and conscience stopped it on my lips.

Has Only Vague Idea.

"As I have only a very dim idea what the 'mess' really is," I replied evasively, "how can I possibly answer that question? But Edith did say, you remember, that while there was a certain amount of truth in the woman's accusation, she never had meant things to go so far, nor had she planned any of the things they were trying to do to you. Don't you think it might be a good idea to take her at her word? For my part, I'd much rather believe Edith than that other woman."

Dicky looked at me with an expression in his eyes that made mine drop.

"Heart of Gold!" he said tenderly. "You'd find excusses for the devil. Not that Ede's exactly a devil; she's simply half off her nut. But I guess you're right at that. We'll take her word that she was only the original spring board. But that's enough for me. Ede gets out of that office and our lives within the week. For I suppose you don't have to have three guesses to realize why she pulled this particular stunt, do you?"

Nothing else to pay

We guarantee the payments shown in this table to be the full amount you will pay back, when payments are made on schedule. The faster you pay, the less the total cost.

One price to all

These payments are calculated at Household's new reduced rates of 2% monthly on balances up to $300 and 6% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximum, and we guarantee are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. ETTA KETT

RELEASE THOSE BRAKES." DON'T FORGET TO REMIND ME TO PROPOSE TO YOU EVERY NIGHT THIS WEEK!
CURT STOP! SOMEONE'S COMING!
MILLY!
TRYING TO SNARE MY MAN!- YOU KNOW CURT AND I HAVE BEEN PRACTICALLY ENGAGED FOR YEARS!" GO AHEAD! WHAT'S THE IDEA!"
I'M NOT TALKING!
WELL, MORE MAN-POWER TO YOU!"
DON'T BLAME ETTA! IT'S ALL MY FAULT! THE LOVE SCENES ARE MY IDEA!"- WAIT--LISTEN!"
LISTEN, CURT!"- IF YOU TOW ME TO THE DANCE, MILLY WILL BE SO HOT SHE'LL SCORCH!
THINKING UP A GOOD SALES-TALK TO GET A DATE!
MULL THIS OVER!" IF MILLY SEES US STEPPING OUT TOGETHER IT'LL MAKE HER JEALOUS AND SHE'LL THINK MORE OF ME!
MAYBE YOU'VE GOT SOME-THING THERE!
I'LL BE HONKIN' FOR YA ABOUT EIGHT!"
IT'S A DATE!
DID YOU HEAR, MILLY!"
SWELL GOIN'!" MAKE A SAP OUT OF HIM AND HE'LL CRAWL BACK TO "AT'LL CURE HIM- MEAN CURED!"
BUT--BUT--NOW THAT CURT HAS FALLEN FOR YOU - I'LL NEVER GET HIM BACK!"
I'LL CURE HIM!" I'LL GO INTO A TEMPER!
LATE!" WHAT'S THE IDEA, KEEPING ME WAITING!
SORRY, JELLY BEAN!"
I'LL BREAK YOU OF THAT HABIT WHEN WE'RE MARRIED!" EITHER YOU'LL BE ON TIME OR I'LL BOUNCE A POT OFF YOUR NOGGIN'!"
HE'LL NOT THINK SHE'S SO SWEET!"
WHAT A GAL!" WHAT A A GAL!" THAT'S WHAT I LIKE - PLENTY OF SPIRIT!" NONE OF THESE WILLY-NILLY NUMBERS FOR ME!
I WAS TOPS WITH CURT TILL HE FELL FOR YOU!"
HE'LL BE BACK TO YOU!" I'LL CURE HIM!" A BOY HATES TO HAVE A GIRL MAKE A SUCKER OF HIM!"
CALL A TAXI!"--AND PUT SHOCK-ABSORBERS ON YOUR BANKROLL -- WE'RE GOING PLACES!
JUST A PLAYGIRL AT HEART! I COULD ACTUALLY LIVE IN THESE EXPENSIVE NIGHTCLUBS! GUESS I'M A BORN SPENDTHRIFT!"
YOU'RE TELLING ME!
YOUR BILL, SIR!
HURRY, AND PAY IT!" LET'S GO TO SOME SWELL PLACE! THIS IS NOT SNAZZY ENOUGH!
HI MILLY!" WELL, THE PRODIGAL LOVER RETURNS!
I SEE! ETTA MADE A SAP OUT OF YOU SO YOU'RE CRAWLING BACK TO ME!?
AW DON'T BE SORE!" I'VE LEARNED MY LESSON!" I'M CURED!
YEAH! SO IS A HAM!"
NO RIBBING!" I QUIT!" I'M THROUGH! SHE SPENT MY BANKROLL IN TEN SECONDS FLAT!
I'LL TAKE YOU BACK!" NOW WE CAN BE ENGAGED AGAIN!" WHERE'S MY RING?
IT'S GONE, TOO! I HAD TO PAWN IT TO PAY THE TAXI BILL!
I COULD TAP YOU WITH AN AX!"
WOW!" LOOK AT THAT BOY FRIEND OF ETTA'S GO!
ANY FELLAH WHO CAN RUN THAT FAST SHOULDN'T HAVE ANY TROUBLE STAYING SINGLE!
HE GOT TOO SERIOUS, WANTED TO GET MARRIED!
AND HERE I'VE BEEN TRYING TO GET RID OF HIM FOR WEEKS!" HOW'D YOU DO IT?
SIMPLE!
I JUST TOLD HIM I'D MARRY HIM, BUT YOU AND MAMA WOULD COME AND LIVE WITH US!"
